. . . what we call an individual man

*is what he is because of and by virtue of community, . . .
and communities are not mere names but something real . . .*

. . . the end, for me, is active, is a practical end. It is not something merely to be felt, it is something to be done. And it is not something to be done, in which, when done, the doer is not to be involved.

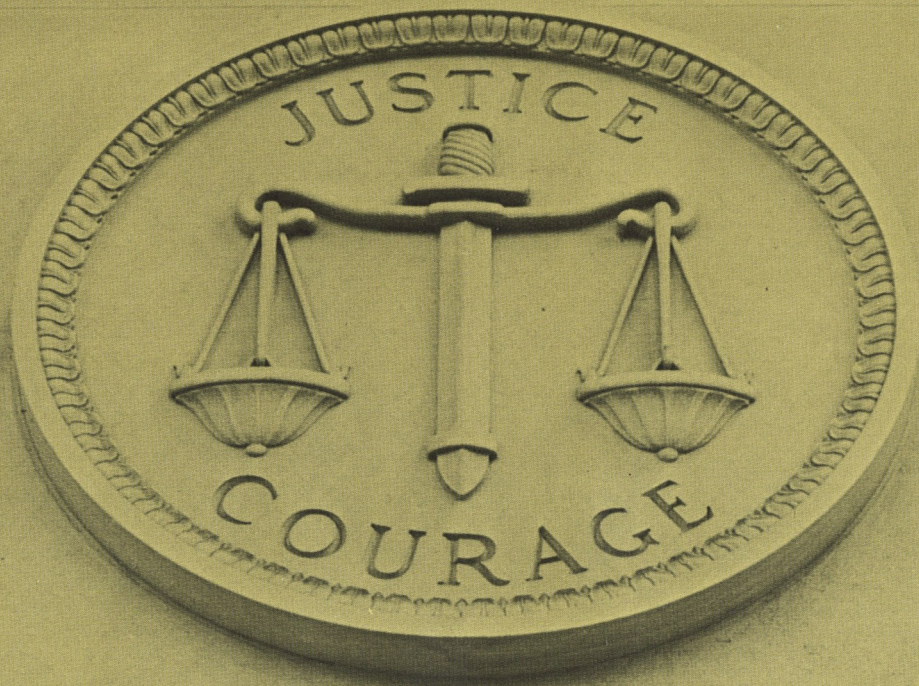

It is not an end without interlude . . .

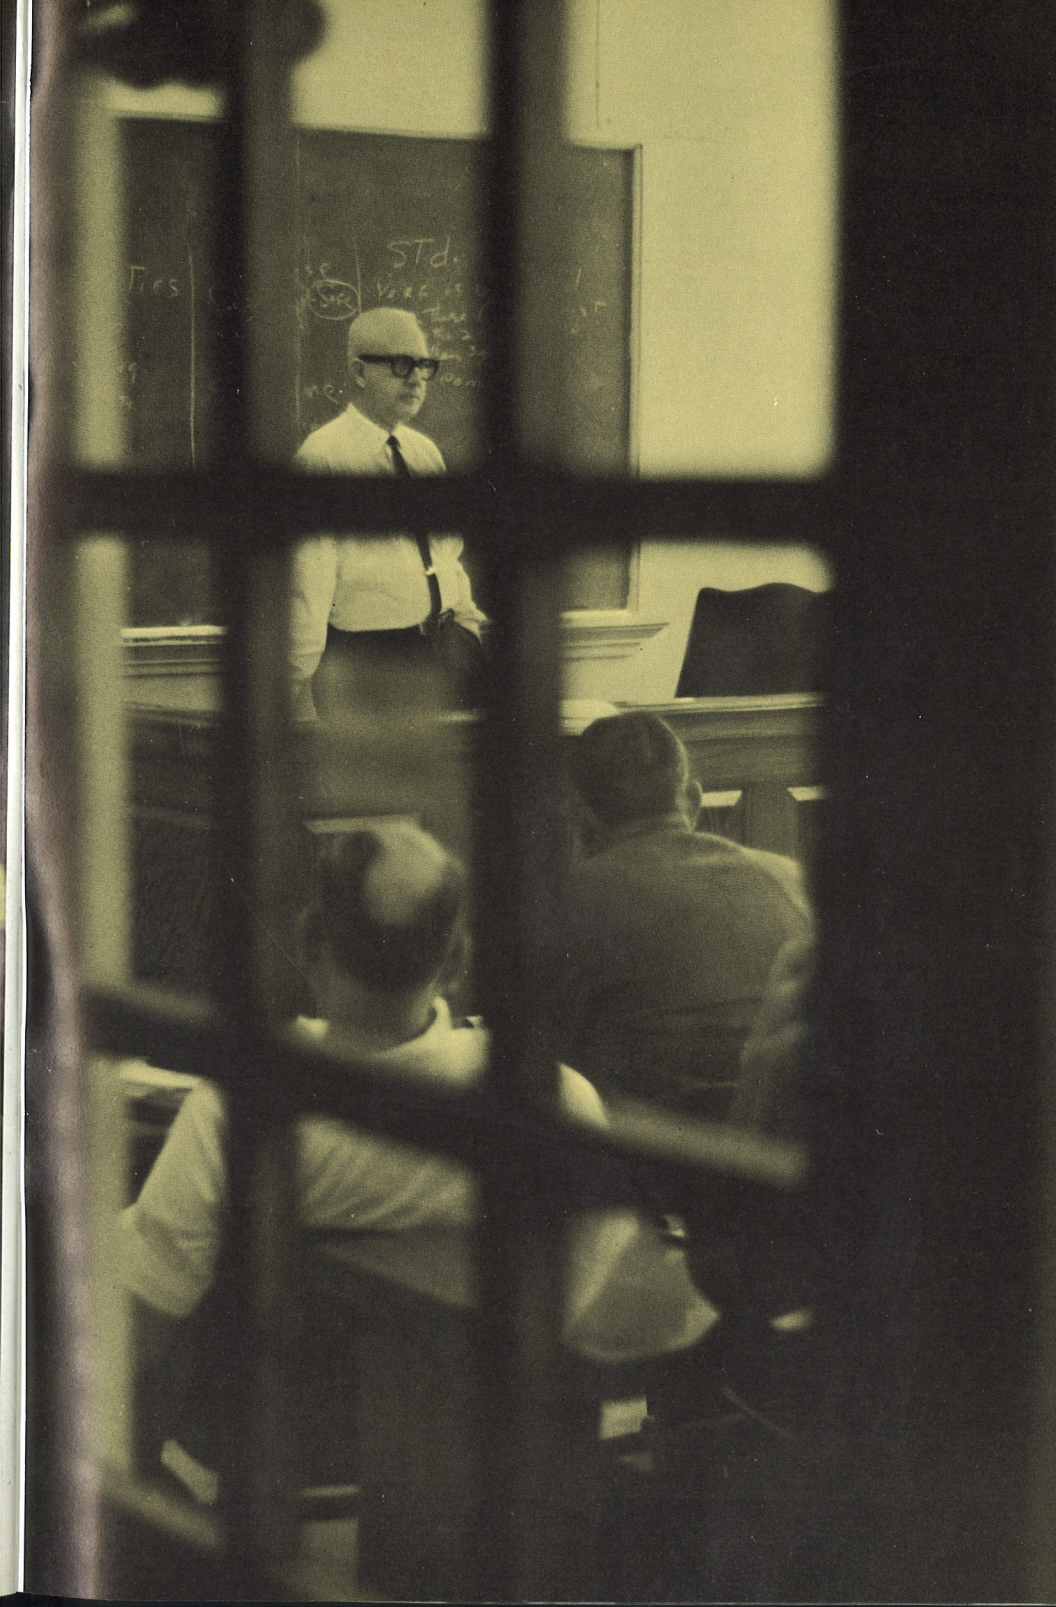

It is not an end for me without being one also for you.

FACULTY: ADMINISTRATION

Friendships made in law school are usually the most cherished and lasting. In later life, classmates join in partnership, oppose one another at the counsel table, associate with one another in professional, civic, and community endeavors, and even oppose one another in campaigns for public office. This yearbook of the School of Law will be a reminder to our students of those days when they were working together in preparation for their professional careers.

The School of Law of Southern Methodist University is pleased to present this book to its students with the best wishes of the entire faculty and staff.

SOUTHWESTERN LAW JOURNAL

The Southwestern Law Journal is a quarterly legal periodical published by The School of Law since 1947. The Journal is devoted to authoritative analyses of important topics of the law, and reaches judges, law schools, and attorneys throughout the United States and abroad. Each issue of the Journal contains articles, comments, notes, and recent decisions embracing significant phases of local, national, and international law.

The operation and management of the Journal is vested in a Board of Editors composed of senior students. Second year students selected on the basis of scholarship may become candidates for editorial positions. The Board is chosen from the candidates who exhibit high capacities for legal research and writing. Invitations to write for the Journal are extended to first year students at the end of the fall and spring semesters on the basis of scholarship.

JOURNAL OF AIR LAW AND COMMERCE

The Journal of Air Law and Commerce, founded at Northwestern University in 1930, has been published at Southern Methodist University since 1961. The quarterly Journal is the foremost scholarly English language publication dealing exclusively with the legal and economic problems of aviation and space. The Journal has a world wide circulation with subscribers in every state and more than fifty foreign countries. Originally edited by lawyers and economists, at Southern Methodist University the Journal has become a student law review.

The operation and management of the Journal is vested in a Board of Editors composed of senior students. Second year students selected on the basis of scholarship may become candidates for editorial positions. The Board is chosen from the candidates who exhibit high capacities for legal research and writing. Invitations to write for the Journal are extended to first year students at the end of the fall and spring semesters on the basis of scholarship.

Editor-in-Chief, Charles A. Thompson; Rodney D. Moore, Notes and Comments Editor; Edward A. Peterson, Managing Editor; James T. Lloyd, Leading Articles Editor; John E. McFall, Research and Recent Decisions Editor; Leo M. Favrot III, International Review and Book Reviews Editor. James E. Barnett, Larry B. Bach, Members of the Board.

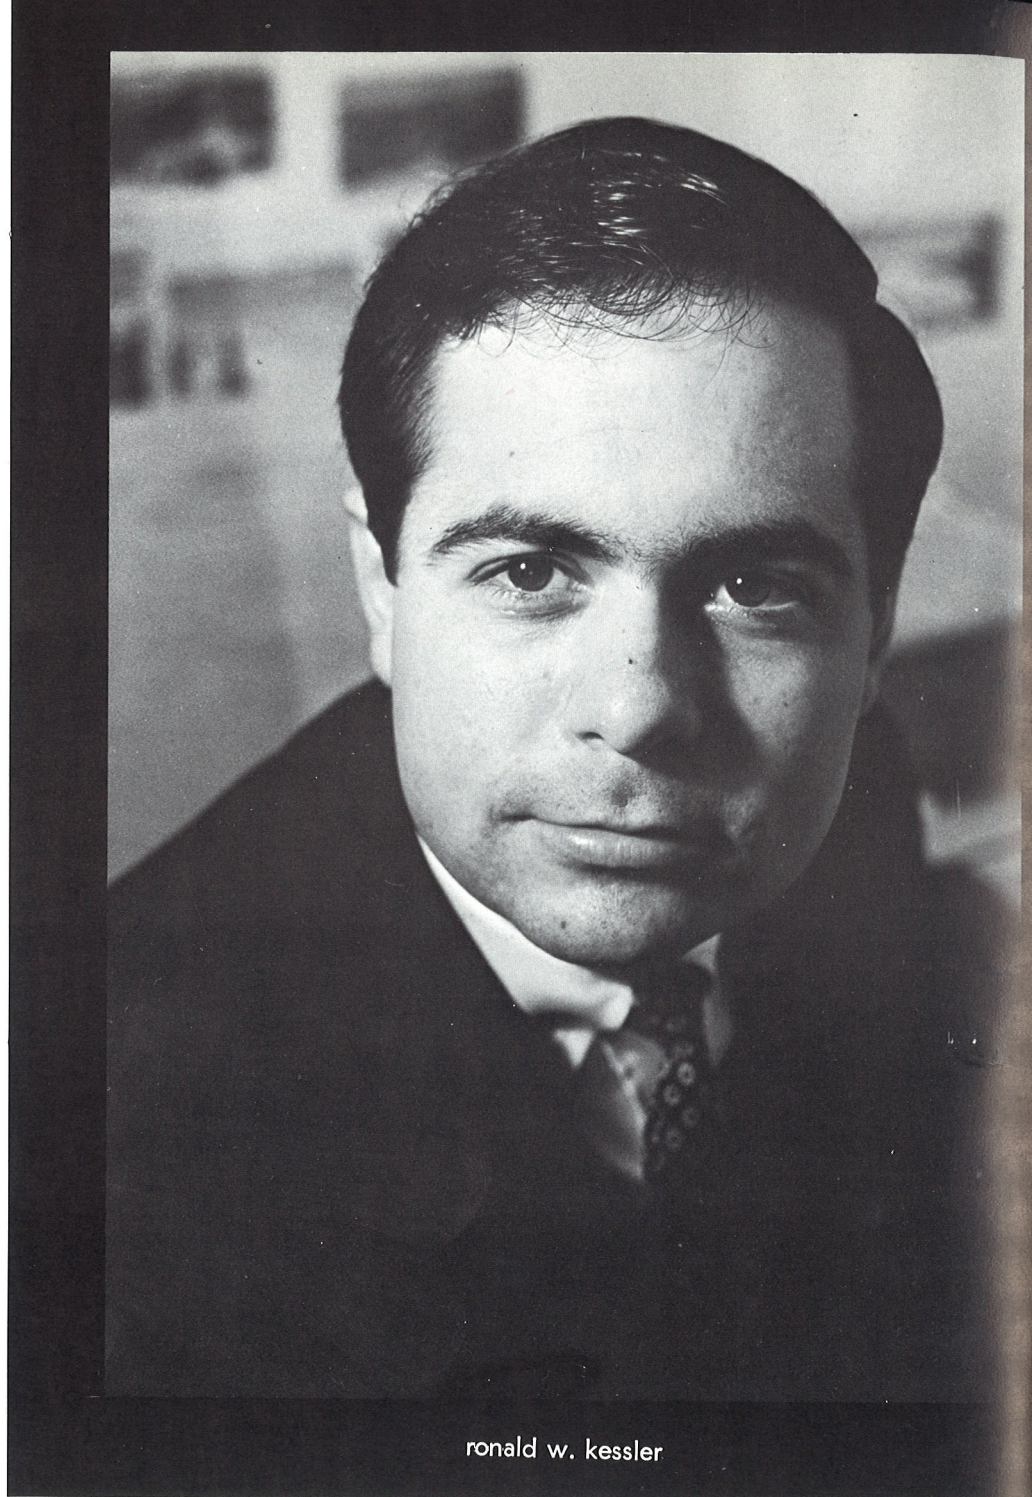

LEGAL AID CLINIC

In the Legal Clinic the law student faces the challenge of the actual practice of law. The Clinic was founded at Southern Methodist University in the fall of 1947. This program was in a large measure made possible by a grant from the Ford Foundation through the National Council on Legal Clinics. The Legal Aid Clinic at Southern Methodist University is staffed each semester by forty student attorneys who process over 1,000 cases each year. The Clinic operates under the supervision of members of the Law School Faculty and a Student Chief Counsel appointed by the faculty.

The Clinic is a front line training ground for the future lawyer. In a law office environment, the students, under the guidance of the faculty, assume the role and professional responsibilities of an attorney in private practice. They interview and counsel clients and provide indigents with a full range of legal services including the drawing of pleadings and participation at trial.

Chief Counsel, Ronald Kessler; David Pickett and Gerald Livingston, Deputy Student Counsel; David Bolton, Faculty Director; Saul Baernstein and Sue Goolsby, Associate Directors; Joseph McKnight, Eugene Smith, William VanDercreek and Moss Wimbish, Advisors; Dr. Davis, Resident Psychiatrist.

THE STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

The Student Bar Association consists of officers and representatives elected by the student body, with meetings open to any member of the law school. The Student Bar acts as a liaison in coordinating the interests of the students and the administration. In addition, the Student Bar, through various committees, conducts a forum for public and professional speakers; sponsors two major social functions a year; maintains an active program for foreign students; and has sponsored publication of this yearbook. The Southern Methodist Student Bar Association is a member of the American Law Student Association which is an affiliate of the American Bar Association.

President, Ronald Clower; Jim Barklow, Vice-President; A. Hardcastle, Secretary; Ben J. Kerr, III, Treasurer. Ray Noah, Joe Semon, Ed Peterson, Lauralee Friis, John Bickle, Charlie Smith, Douglas Thorpe, Sam Burford, Jr., Stephen Tokoly, Overton Anderson, John Cravens, Jerold Schmidt, Representatives.

SOUTHWESTERN LEGAL FOUNDATION

The Southwestern Legal Foundation was founded in 1947 as an educational and civic organization of businessmen, judges, lawyers, educators, government officials and business groups "to establish and operate legal institutes and any other related activities for the benefit of the Legal Profession, the Public, and the Government; to conduct institutes, research, and forums of International Law and relations . . ."

Since 1951, when Storey Hall was dedicated, the Foundation, along with the Southern Methodist University School of Law, has occupied the Legal Center.

Through its four divisions, The Foundation conducts annual academies, symposia, institutes, short courses and "schools." Each year approximately 5,000 participants attend these programs organized under the auspices of one of the four divisions of The Foundation.

Scholarships for its own noncredit programs and grants for accredited study in the Southern Methodist University School of Law are awarded to both United States and foreign lawyers and to other students.

Publications of The Foundation include Oil and Gas Reporter, a monthly periodical; approximately sixty volumes of proceedings of institutes; and a semiannual Bulletin.

Administration of the Foundation: Robert Storey, President; Andrew Cecil, Executive Vice President and Educational Director; Beulah Luther, Assistant Secretary; Leonard Sublett, Administrative Assistant and Registrar; Virginia Cameron, Director of Publications; Armine C. Ernst, Administrative Editor.

A black and white photograph of a group of nine young people posing on a brick staircase. The group consists of five men and four women, all smiling and looking towards the camera. They are dressed in casual 1960s-style clothing, including button-down shirts, sweaters, and patterned dresses. The staircase has a brick wall on the left and a metal railing on the right.

A black and white photograph of a daisy flower in a field of tall grass. The daisy is in the upper left quadrant, with its dark center and light petals clearly visible. The grass is dense and fills the rest of the frame, creating a textured background.

The modern yearbook is, by definition, a pictorial history of a school year. Our first step in this direction was to commission Gene Furness as our photographer. Our goal was to depart from the norm of law school yearbook format and to strive to present the tangible and intangible qualities of the school through photography as an art medium. The strength of Gene's work is based on the use of natural light, close emotional contact with the subject and simple camera technique.

Our appreciation to Dean Galvin, J. B. Wolens and the administration for allowing us to work independently; the Student Bar Association for undertaking sponsorship of the yearbook; my staff, for their tolerance; Cecil Mathis and Pete Schlumberger for their fine student photography.

Coverage was limited by the size of the book and the fact of our late December start, but we hope we have provided you with a companion that you may some day sit down with and remember . . .

Daisy
