Appendix A—Class of 1974, honors and awards, student activities and organizations for the year 1973-74.

Appendix B—Faculty bibliography, committee assignments and activities, 1973-74.

Appendix C—Law School Committee of the Board of Trustees; Board of Visitors; Law Alumni Association; and named scholarships.

Appendix D—Statement of Acting Dean Thomas at the third Hooding Ceremony, Law Quadrangle, Saturday, May 18, 1974.

I. General Statement

In May, 1974, the School of Law completed its forty-ninth academic year. At that time degrees were formally conferred on those who had completed their degree requirements in August, 1973, December 1973, and May 1974. The following tabular analysis reflects comparative data with respect to degrees conferred or certificates granted during the period 1965-1974.
Appendix A contains detailed information regarding the 1974 recipients of degrees, honors and awards, and student activities and organizations for the year 1973-74.

This was an eventful year for the School of Law. The continued large enrollment presented problems of maintaining quality education in a situation of handling large numbers of students. The popularity of the graduate program in legal studies attracted an unusually large number of candidates for the LL.M. and M.C.L. degrees. Many of these students are practicing lawyers desirous of reentering formal study as a “retread” or “tooling up” experience for more concentrated work in particular disciplines or areas of interest in the law. This is a developing major role for the School, for, although we have always had some students in graduate study, the marked increase in numbers affords us an opportunity for significant service to the practicing profession in keeping skills of a great many lawyers at high levels of proficiency.

A particularly sensitive problem is the greater dependence of the central administration on the Law School’s throw-off of resources to fund other University activities. The Law School should bear its direct and indirect expenses without “leaning on” other schools and divisions of the University, but to the extent that the School is itself leaned on for support of other functions, there are serious problems relating to its capacity to maintain its own excellence while contributing to the support of other efforts of the University. This situation is further aggravated by the alarming inflationary spiral in operating costs.

In part XIII of this report, I have set out in brief the circumstances leading to the departure of the Southwestern Legal Foundation from the campus during this year.
In June, 1974, Dr. Paul Hardin submitted his resignation as President of the University, but continued his status as a tenured professor of law. As President, Dr. Hardin’s relations with the Law School were excellent. He has an excellent perception of legal education and legal practice. Although we regretted his leaving the presidency, we welcome his return to full time teaching.

II. Faculty

Appendix B sets out in detail faculty bibliographies and activities for the year 1973-74. Changes in assignment, leaves, and part-time faculty for the period under review were as follows:

Professor Robert A. Bernstein was on leave for the academic year and was associated with the law firm of Weil, Craig and Fischman.

Assistant Professor Philippe J. Bodin was on leave for the academic year doing study at Aix-en-Provence, France.

Assistant Professor Neil H. Cogan joined the faculty on August 23, 1973. He holds the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws degrees from the University of Pennsylvania. He was formerly associated with the New York law firm of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton and Garrison. He taught Procedure I and II and Constitutional Criminal Procedure.
Visiting Associate Professor Matthew W. Finkin was in residence for the academic year 1973-74. He holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan University and the Bachelor of Laws degree from New York University School of Law. He was formerly Director of the Northeastern Regional Office of the American Association of University Professors and Associate Counsel for that organization in New York. He taught Torts, Labor Law and Employment Discrimination.

Professor John L. FitzGerald left the University at the end of the Fall semester, 1973, to become Special Assistant to the General Counsel of the Federal Loan Bank Board, Washington, D.C. He was officially retired from the University July 1, 1974.

Dean Charles O. Galvin was on leave for the Spring semester, 1974, during which time he was the Director of the SMU-in-Spain program at the University of Madrid.

Visiting Professor James W. McElhaney from the University of Maryland was in residence during the 1973 Summer Session and the 1973-74 academic year. He received the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws degrees from Duke University. He taught Conflict of Laws, Evidence and Trial Tactics.

Professor Charles J. Morris was on sabbatical leave for the academic year doing labor law research in Northern Europe, including work at the International Labor Organization in Switzerland. He was also a Visiting Professor on the faculties of law and economics at Monash University in Melbourne, Australia.

Visiting Associate Professor John E. Moye from the University of Denver was in residence during the Summer Session of 1973. He holds the Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Notre Dame and the Juris Doctor degree from Cornell University. He taught Negotiable Instruments and Sales and Secured Transactions.

Visiting Professor Leo J. Raskind from the University of Minnesota was in residence during the Summer Session of 1973. He holds the Bachelor of Laws degree from Yale and Doctor of Philosophy degree from the London School of Economics. He taught Income Taxation.

Assistant Professor Peter W. Schroth joined the faculty on August 23, 1974. He holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Shimer College and the Juris Doctor and Master of Comparative Law degrees from the University of Chicago. He is a candidate for the degree of Doctor of the Science of Law at the University of Michigan Law School where he was formerly a Fellow at the Legislative Research Center. He taught Torts, Comparative Law, and Environmental Law.

Professor Walter W. Steele was on leave for the Spring semester 1974 as a Visiting Professor at the University of Texas School of Law.

Visiting Associate Professor William P. Streng was in residence for the academic year 1973-1974. He holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Wartburg College and the Juris Doctor degree from Northwestern University School of Law. He was formerly Deputy General Counsel for the Export-Import Bank of the United States in Washington, D.C. He taught Business Taxation, Income Taxation, Taxation of Estates, Trusts and Gifts, Estate Planning and Problems of Doing Business Abroad.

Professor A. J. Thomas was on sabbatical leave for the Fall semester 1973 during which time he was a Professor for the SMU-in-Spain program at the University of Madrid.

Visiting Professor Cliff F. Thompson was in residence for the academic year 1973-74. He received the Bachelor of Arts and Juris Doctor degrees from Harvard University. He is the former Dean of the Haile Sellassie I University Law School in Ethiopia. He taught Property, Law in Society and Negotiable Instruments.

Six instructors in Research Methods/Legal Writing were employed to work in the first-year program of legal writing and research; they were Ellen K. Solender, Bachelor of Arts, Oberlin College and Juris Doctor, Southern Methodist University; Mary Ellen White, Bachelor of Arts and Juris Doctor, Southern Methodist University; James S. Buis, Bachelor of Arts, Virginia Military Institute and Juris Doctor, University of Richmond, Master of Laws, Southern Methodist University; John W. Reifenberg, Jr., Bachelor of Arts, Brown University and Juris Doctor, University of Denver; Richard R. Schmal, Bachelor of Science, University of Illinois and Juris Doctor, Gonzaga University; and Gillian Romuld, Bachelor of Laws, Melbourne University and Master of Laws, Southern Methodist University.

III. Degree Programs

The School of Law conducted the following major programs during the year 1973-74.

(A) The three-year Juris Doctor program. The requirements are 90 hours of required and elective courses.

(B) The general graduate program for part-time and full-time students leading to the degree of Master of Laws. The requirements are 24 hours of seminar and course work prescribed by the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies. A thesis may be submitted for as many as 12 hours of credit.

(C) The graduate program in international and comparative law leading to the degree of Master of Comparative Law. The requirements are 24 hours of seminar and course work prescribed by the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies. A Certificate in Comparative Law may in the discretion of the faculty be awarded to those students in the international and comparative law program who fail in some particular respect to meet all the grade and hour requirements for the Master of Comparative Law degree.

(D) The graduate program in research and writing leading to the degree of Doctor of Science of Law. The requirements are prescribed for the candidate by the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies.

(E) The combined Juris Doctor and Master of Business Administration degree. This combined program is offered jointly by the School of Law and the Graduate Division of the School of Business Administration. The program is designed for law practice with a strong business background, and for business careers with a strong legal background. Through the program, the two degrees may be obtained in four years. Separately, they would require four and a half or five years.

IV. Curriculum

The curriculum in effect for the summer session 1973 consisted of 10 sections of courses and seminars; during the regular session 163 sections of courses and seminars were offered. Under the program for the Juris Doctor degree, the student had to complete 39 hours of required courses and 51 hours of electives, including at least one course involving international and comparative law or jurisprudence and a seminar in which a substantial paper is required.

During the year new offerings included Appellate Advocacy offered by Mr. David C. Musslewhite; Criminal Evidence offered by Mr. Ray E. Moses; Employment Discrimination offered by Professor Matthew W. Finkin; Federal Criminal Trial Practice offered by Mr. Richard Stephens; Future of the Legal Profession offered by Mr. Paul Carrington; and Trial Tactics offered by Professor James W. McElhaney.

During the year the number of women students numbered 87, students from abroad, 18, and minority students (Black, Chicano, and American Indian), 22. As reflected in the tabulation, the first year class entering in the fall, 1973, represented 31 states. Their undergraduate work was done in 120 different colleges and universities—23 Texas schools and 97 out-of-state schools.

The tuition during the regular session for the second and third year students was $2,240 for the two semesters. For the first year students, the tuition was a linear fee of $90 per semester hour.

We continued in 1973-74 an intensive recruiting program in colleges and universities throughout the country. Some 85 alumni of the School of Law made recruiting trips to 96 undergraduate schools, while senior law students made visits to another 20 schools in the North Texas area. The result has been an increase in the number of well-qualified applicants.

VI. Underwood Law Library

During the fiscal year 1973-74, 8,147 volumes were added to the Underwood Law Library collection, bringing the total number of volumes to 190,672. The collection includes more titles on securities, investments, taxation, accounting, corporate mergers, banking, criminology, medico-legal jurisprudence, psychiatry, civil rights, human relations and other relative subjects. Emphasis has been placed on state administrative agency materials and especially on opinions of the state attorneys-general. Several digests and encyclopedias have been added covering states in the region. A concerted effort has been made to acquire available materials on space and sea law, and continued acquisitions have been made in the field of international, commercial, and taxation law. During the year, $237,596.18 was expended on library operation.

In August 1973 Miss Sally Langston, an experienced cataloger, came from the University of Houston Law Library to become Head of the Catalog Department. Ms. Ora Géné Addis, a recent graduate of the North Texas State University Library School, has joined our Catalog Department. Ms. Virginia Templeton who earned her Masters in Library Science from North Texas State University in 1970 was appointed Circulation Librarian in January, 1974. Ms. Sue Albright, Assistant Law Librarian, and Ms. Nada Smit, International Law Librarian, both retired in May, 1974, after many years of faithful service.

The Library which is usually open from 7:30 a.m. until midnight, serves as a major research center for a large metropolitan area and has increased its inter-library loans. Four Dennison copying machines and a 2400 Xerox machine have been installed and are in constant use. The main conference room serves many small group meetings of organizations both on and off campus.

VII. Alumni Relations Law School Fund Student Aid

Mr. James H. Wallenstein, the Class of 1967, was President, and Mr. W. H. (Bill) Fogleman, Class of 1952, was Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Law Alumni Association. During the year the Officers and Directors of the Association met several times to consider matters of interest to the Law School and to participate in the hooding of candidates for degrees on May 18, 1974.

Mr. Robert E. Davis of the Class of 1958 was Chairman of the 1973-1974 Law School Fund. Under his guidance gifts to the Law School from alumni totaled $67,075, with 29% of the alumni participating. This compares with gifts totaling $58,214 from 22% of the alumni the previous year. The average alumni gift was $72.00. Gifts from law firms, corporations, foundations, faculty and other friends of the Law School totaled $73,943, bringing the total current gifts from all sources to $141,018. All unrestricted contributions have been used to provide financial assistance to students in the form of tuition grants. Other gifts were used, according to the instructions of the donors, for the support of the law library, legal clinic, faculty research, and a law lectureship fund.

During the year an endowed scholarship fund was established at the Law School by the Dallas law firm of Locke, Purnell, Boren, Laney and Neely in memory of its deceased partner, Maurice E. Purnell. The Law School was also the recipient of a substantial endowment fund for scholarships under the will of Mrs. Octavine Dreeben of Fort Worth, who recently passed away. Her husband, Mr. Israel Lewis Dreeben, was a prominent New York attorney during the 1920's.

The Alumni Association sponsored a breakfast and a reception at the State Bar Convention in Fort Worth on July 5, 1973.

On August 1, 1973, John David Tobin of the Class of 1966 was host at a dinner for New York City alumni of the Law School, at which Dean and Mrs. Galvin were present.

On August 7, 1973, the Alumni Association sponsored a reception at the American Bar Association Convention in Washington, D.C.

Major donors to the Law School Fund were honored at the Century Club Dinner at the Umphrey Lee Student Center on October 18, 1973.

On October 27, 1973, Edward R. Smith, Class of 1957, was host at a luncheon for Lubbock area alumni, at which Dean and Mrs. Galvin were present.

On November 3, 1973, the Alumni Association sponsored a breakfast at Lawyers Inn in conjunction with the University's Homecoming celebration.

Robert M. Bandy of the Class of 1969 and Allen E. Pye of the Class of 1949 were hosts at a dinner in Tyler for East Texas area alumni of the Law School on November 8, 1973.

On November 15, 1973, Houston area alumni attended a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Heath, Jr. The dinner was attended by Dean Galvin and Assistant Dean Dycus and officers of the Alumni Association. Mr. Heath is a member of the Class of 1966.

On November 30, 1973, Dean Galvin met with Kansas City area alumni at a luncheon hosted by Dennis J. Brundige and H. Randolph Williams, both members of the Class of 1967.

VIII. Publications

Two student-edited law reviews are published by the School of Law, the Southwestern Law Journal and the Journal of Air Law and Commerce. The operation and management of these law reviews are vested in their respective Boards of Editors. The Boards are made up of senior students who have exhibited a high capacity for legal research and writing. Other students are selected to participate on the basis of scholarship and through a writing competition conducted each year. In both publications, the work of students has produced periodicals of permanent value to the legal profession.

The Southwestern Law Journal is published five times each year and reaches law schools, attorneys and judges throughout the United States and abroad. Each issue includes articles by prominent legal scholars and practitioners dealing with significant questions of local, national and international law. In addition, articles by students analyze recent cases, statutes and developments in the law. Each year one issue of the Journal is devoted to an Annual Survey of Texas Law and contains articles by attorneys, law professors, and judges concerning current developments in the laws of Texas.

The Journal of Air Law and Commerce, a quarterly publication of the School of Law, was founded in 1930. The only scholarly periodical in the English language devoted primarily to the legal and economic problems of aviation and space, it has a world wide circulation with subscribers in 50 countries. Articles by distinguished lawyers, economists, government officials, and scholars deal with domestic and international problems of the airline industry, private aviation, and space problems. Also included are student works on a variety of topical issues, student comments, casenotes on recent decisions, book reviews and editorial comments. The Journal of Air Law and Commerce sponsors a popular annual symposium on selected problems in aviation law.

The Human Rights Journal is published quarterly by the School of Law and the Section of Individual Rights and Responsibilities of the American Bar Association. It is edited jointly by members of the faculty and students; it includes articles by leading scholars and practitioners and notes and bibliographies by students on legal topics of humanistic concern. Articles and comments by students may appear from time to time. The Human Rights Journal has a large, nation-wide circulation.

The Adversary (now called the Advocate) is a weekly newspaper published by students about the Law School community.

IX. Legal Clinic

The three clinical courses under the supervision of Professor Walter W. Steele, Jr., Professor Maxine T. McConnell and Miss Linda Thomas offered second and third year students an opportunity to develop practical skills and an understanding of professional responsibility.

During the period from June 1, 1973, through May 31, 1974, 79 students were enrolled in the Participating Credit Program. Each student worked a minimum of 20 hours per week with a practicing Dallas attorney assisting the attorney in activities with legal significance complementing the student's regular school work. In addition, 34 students participated in the Legal Extern Program and were placed in such institutional settings as the office of the State District Attorney, the office of the United States Attorney, the Seagoville Federal Correctional Facility and the City of Dallas Office of Consumer Affairs.

The two-semester Legal Clinic Program had a total enrollment of 74 students. During the first semester, the students in Legal Clinic A received classroom instruction in preparation for their work with clients during the second semester. Lectures and discussions covered such varied subjects as how to conduct a professional interview, how to draft pleadings and legal instruments, and how to practice at the courthouse. In addition, students were presented with problems involving the representation of clients in a variety of legal matters.

The Legal Clinic B semester is devoted to the actual handling of clients' cases under close supervision. All students enrolled are licensed under the Student Practice Rule. In representing the clients, students have an opportunity to interview, draft pleadings and legal instruments, use all discovery tools, negotiate with opposing counsel, prepare for trial and participate fully in pre-trial and the trial of cases. In addition, the students perfect appeals of cases meriting further pursuit.

From June 1, 1973, through May 31, 1974, 893 individuals seeking legal assistance were interviewed by students in the program. Of the total seeking assistance 862 were represented and 440 cases were disposed of during the year. Of the 269 court appearances made, 85 involved contested cases. In addition to divorce and family related matters, students represented clients with legal problems involving consumer abuse, employment, landlord-tenant, social security, home repair; they also represented defendants in damage and personal injury suits.

X. Moot Court

The year was one of the most successful for the School's Moot Court teams. Under the guidance of Associate Dean Roy R. Anderson, the teams compiled an enviable record among the law schools in this region. At the annual State Junior Bar Moot Court Tournament held in the Summer of 1973 at the Texas Bar Association Convention in Ft. Worth the team of Lawrence E. Ac-kels, Jr., Eric D. Archer, and Rhett G. Campbell won second place in the competition among the law schools of the State. The final round between S.M.U. and the University of Texas at Austin was judged by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

In the fall of 1973 the team of Lawrence E. Ackels, Jr., Ben A. Brooks, III and Patrick O. Naylor competed at the University of Texas at Austin in the regional rounds of the 1973 National Moot Court Competition. The team won every award possible: the First Place award in the final round against the University of Tulsa, the Best Brief Award, and Mr. Ackels received the American Trial Lawyers Association Award for Best Oralist in the overall Competition. As a result of winning the regional competition, the team went on to participate in the final rounds of the National Moot Court Competition held annually in New York City. In an extremely close contest, the team was defeated by the University of Kentucky team in the second round of the New York tournament.

In the Spring of 1974 the regional rounds of the Phillip C. Jessup International Moot Court Competition were held in Dallas with the school’s team serving as both hosts and contestants. The team, consisting of Henry J. Ackels, Christopher P. Christian, Thomas A. Cipolla, David E. Keltner and Howard C. Rubin, won first place by submitting the best memorial.
XI. Placement

Interviews took place during the months of September, 1973, through April, 1974, and representatives of interviewing firms came from every section of the country. There were 1,011 separately scheduled student interviews. A tally as of November 12, 1974, of the seniors graduating reflects the following facts concerning placement:

*Some graduates have been waiting for their Bar results before seeking employment.

The tightening of economic conditions portends a somewhat more difficult problem relating to placement for the next several years. Every effort will be made to put each student’s resume before several prospective employers in order to provide the widest possible base of contact.
XII. Continuing Legal Education

The School of Law and the Practising Law Institute of New York co-sponsored eight continuing legal education programs during the year. These programs used some of the best known teachers and practitioners in the country to make in-depth presentations on topics of current interest. Titles for the year's programs included Medical Malpractice, Basic Trial Strategy, Estate Planning, Equipment Leasing in the 70's, Protecting Trade Secrets, Legal Rights of the Mentally Handicapped, Domestic and International Patent Licensing, and Bankruptcy: Practice and Procedure.

On June 1-2, 1973 the School was once again the sponsor of the popular Texas Community Property and Family Law Seminar. Chairman for this program was Robert E. Davis of the Class of 1958. The School sponsored a Symposium on The Role of Law Schools in Certifying Trial Lawyers on April 25-26, 1974, under the Chairmanship of Professor James W. McElhaney. A panel of nationally known judges, practitioners, and law teachers discussed the specialty certification of trial lawyers as a concern of the bar and of law schools.

Many lawyers in the Dallas area wishing to improve their skills in specialized areas enrolled in advanced courses offered as part of the School's regular curriculum.

XIII. The Southwestern Legal Foundation Controversy

The Southwestern Legal Foundation was organized in 1947 and housed in the facilities of the Law School. In subsequent years the School expanded in size and the scope of its operations and so also did the Southwestern Legal Foundation. This resulted in an increasing overlap of functions of the two organizations. As early as 1959, there began a series of formal negotiations between the two institutions to harmonize and complement one another's roles. These efforts at arbitrations were unsuccessful, however, so that by 1974 men of good will on both sides of the issue realized that further negotiations would be fruitless. Accordingly, the University, as the owner of the facilities, requested the Foundation to vacate the premises which it occupied. In July, 1974, the Foundation moved to quarters on the campus of the University of Texas at Dallas.

The University and Law School community have the highest respect for the Foundation's professional activities and programs, and we wish them well in their continued work.

XIV. Other Events of the Year

On Thursday, February 21, the School of Law sponsored a Conference on Clinical Education to which members of the Board of Visitors of the School of Law and the Board of Directors of the Law Alumni Association were invited for a day of discussions with our Legal Clinic staff, and members of various faculty committees.

On Thursday, April 4, the School of Law received the Chief Justice and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court and the Judges of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals for a day of informal discussion with faculty and students, during which the judges presided over the finals in the Moot Court Competition.

On Saturday, May 18, the School of Law had its third formal Ceremony of Hooding the Juris Doctor candidates on the steps of the Underwood Law Library followed by a reception in Lawyers Inn.

XV. Conclusion

I express my sincerest appreciation to the University administration and to the members of the bench and bar and other friends who have assisted the School so significantly.

Respectfully submitted,
Charles O'Neill Calvin
Dean

(Mr. Gonzalez delivered the invocation)

Thank you.

Milord, The President of the University, Milord, the President of the Dallas Bar Association, Milord, the Provost and Vice President of the University, Milords and Miladies of the faculty, Milords and Miladies who are candidates for the various degrees, Milords and Miladies who are our distinguished guests and all other presidents, vice presidents, lords and ladies and vice lords and vice ladies present, I welcome you all most happily today. To our degree candidates, I extend on behalf of the law school and University family our most sincere congratulations and our best wishes for your future.

Most of you are aware of the fact that I really do not belong in this particular spot. I am not the Dean of the Law School, only the Acting Dean. Believe me, that title is correct, my acting deanship has been high drama—COMEDY, fortunately, instead of tragedy—although that may be a matter of opinion. The Dean Dr. Charles O. Galvin, has been participating in the SMU-in-Spain program for the past semester, and is now touring Europe.
He has requested me to extend to all of you his greetings and a most warm welcome. He told me, “The Hooding Ceremony is your baby, A. J., and I designate you the Head Hood—have fun.” Our Dean can be a bit corny at times. Getting into this academic regalia on a hot afternoon is not my idea of fun. As a matter of fact, whenever I get uncomfortably rigged up in this paraphernalia, I recall my participation in an academic procession a few years ago at the height of the student activist movement. As the academic procession wound its way toward McFarlin Auditorium, a hippy type student with scraggly beard, dressed in bedraggled shorts, fringed shirt, and bedecked with love beads and amulets, looked at me with more than a glint of amusement and yelled, “Hey, Mr. Thomas, and you think we look funny.”

Well, dear members of the third year class, the happy day, the day for which you have been anxiously waiting for, praying for, and of course, paying for, has finally arrived. This is the day when you leave your educational cocoon and now emerge as that beautiful and magnificent butterfly, the full-fledged lawyer, ready to do or die (for a fee that is) for your fellow man—your client. Just why emerging from the Law School shell should be such a happy occasion has always been a source of some bafflement to me. You are saying farewell to some of your good friends who have never been your competitors or your rivals for grades and honors; you are leaving behind all those stimulating and interesting courses, particularly those held at eight in the morning; you are now to be deprived of those kindly fatherly (or motherly) mentors who ooze with the milk of human kindness—your professors. No longer will you be able to participate in those nocturnal and diurnal beer drinking bouts, or relax over those semester exams which you always considered to be so relatively easy, simple and clear cut. All this blessed bliss you now cast aside, renounce forever, unless a few of you, like some of us here before you on this parapet, somehow make it back to the educational womb. I commend you now to the cruel, hard work-a-day world, the real world, and it is forever.

This is the third annual hooding ceremony for the Juris Doctor Candidates of Southern Methodist University School of Law, and it has now reached the level of a very significant and joyful graduation tradition, as can be seen by the large number of people gathered here today. The first law school class of Southern Methodist University graduated in the Spring of 1928 with eight members. One of those first graduates was our dear friend, Dr. Erin Bain Jones, who was tragically killed in an airplane accident three weeks ago. We, who knew her so well, feel her loss immensely, but in her lifetime, she established a tradition for all classes to come by contributing most generously to the scholarship funds of this law school and to the Law Library. Each of you now graduating has been enriched because of her generosity. You are her living memorial.

This the forty-seventh class has 188 candidates for the Juris Doctor degree, 11 candidates for the Master of Comparative Law Degree, and 30 candidates for the Master of Laws degree. These figures include those who completed the requirements for their respective degrees in August, 1973, December, 1973, and May, 1974, whose names are listed on the official commencement program for this ceremony and the program which will be given you at the General University Commencement tomorrow.

Every member of the class of 1974 is deserving of congratulations for his or her accomplishments. Compliments for sheer endurance should be forthcoming, if for nothing else. You have been screened, tested, pushed, pulled, and brainwashed via the most exquisite mental torture ever devised by the minds of men... the case method system of legal education. Somehow you have survived the ordeal and are justly due high praise for your survival. All are honored but some students made an extra effort, and they must receive particular recognition. If you consult your programs, you will see there identified the members of this class who have won special prizes and awards, together with the names of the donor individuals and donor organizations who have made these prizes and awards possible. To the winners go our special congratulations and to the donors our gratitude for their support of quality and excellence in professional education.

Yesterday afternoon the faculty of the School of Law met to approve the degree candidates for presentation to the President of the University, and last night we formally inducted the top 10% of the senior class into the Order of the Coif. The new members of Coif are listed on the program and you can also recognize each of them by the special white circular coif which each one wears on his or her mortar board.

The faculty also designated 3 members of the class to receive the degree of Juris Doctor Cum Laude. Their names are listed in the program and you can identify each of them by the special red and blue talisman which each one wears on the right sleeve.

Mr. Richard Thomas Groves, Jr., Cum Laude, is designated as the Standard Bearer for the class of 1974.

We have some firsts this year . . . this is the first time we have two married couples receiving their degrees together. Joanne and Terry Means, and Kathy and Rob Kelly. As a matter of fact, Kathy Rechnitzer married Rob Kelly this very afternoon, so for them this date will always be one of double significance. To the bride and groom, we extend our wishes for a long and happy life together. I can attest that husband and wife law teams are great fun. You can do your arguing about law, and that leads to a tranquil family life.

Thanks and appreciation go out from our graduates and from the Law School today to the many, many people who have made this event possible. Parents, parents-in-law, grandparents, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles and distant relatives have all contributed with their encouragement, their support and their concern. Many have contributed with monetary resources . . . so this day will also have much meaning to you. Many of you, I am sure, thought that you would have to burn down the school house, but fortunately, such drastic means were not necessary. At last, your student is being sent out to earn a living. To all of you we extend our grateful thanks.

Law firms, alumni, trustees, members of the Board of Visitors and friends of the Law School have contributed generously so that quality private education, and especially quality private professional education can survive. To you we extend a very special thank you.

I also want to pay tribute to spouses . . . the husbands and wives of the law students. For three years they have agonized, encouraged, comforted, understood and helped their partner to reach this moment. The law student wives are our hostesses today. We thank them for all of the assistance they have given to us and to their husbands over these past years. The name of their organization is being officially changed from Law Student Wives to Law Partners because one brave husband of a law student paid his dues this year and was accepted for membership . . . For some strange reason he did not appear at any of the meetings. To the spouses of the graduates, we also extend our appreciation.
Finally our thanks go to the faculty, the staff and the librarians who have worked with such great dedication this year. With a large student body, and a relatively small faculty and staff, we have asked much from everyone, and all have responded in the finest spirit of professionalism. I do wish to single out three members of our Law School family for special mention. They are John Fitzgerald, Professor of Law, Sue Albright, Assistant Law Librarian, and Nada Smit, International Law Librarian. These three fine people are retiring this year after many years of valuable service and devotion to this Law School. We will miss them. Indeed, I do not know how we will get along without them. Our heartfelt best wishes go with them for a long and happy retirement.

It is traditional for the Dean at this time to speak for a few moments in a serious vein about the future of our society and law. As I look back upon my graduating law school class, we were faced with bleak prospects. We had not yet emerged from the great depression, and we had just become involved in World War II, which at least took care of our occupational future for some time. Perhaps I am too pessimistic, but I feel that the problems we faced then were not as grave as those facing your class.

At the end of the second World War, this nation was hailed as the strongest and richest on earth. Somewhat arrogantly we accepted this as our due. I really do not know where the facts of power and wealth got us, except the privilege of doling out our national treasure, lives and money to those not so well advantaged. In any event, power and wealth mean little when the body politic is riddled with cancer. Political, social, and economic ills have always been with us, but today these are compounded by those in our midst who reject the traditional liberal values of the western world upon which the constitutional and political systems of this country were founded. Among these values are reason and tolerance, the freedom of the individual from arbitrary authority, a government under law with the consent of the governed, and the amelioration of the human condition through economic, social and spiritual progress. This hopeful and optimistic philosophy which entails a peaceful evolution for the benefit of all humanity is being replaced in the minds of many with strange schemes and ugly philosophies for the instant solution of America's ills without regard for reason, for peace, for law or for the rights of man. Throughout the twentieth century severe problems have spawned anti-liberal, unreasoned and radical solutions in many parts of the world, bringing with them the nightmares of totalitarianism, wars in the name of peace, terrorism, violence and persecution by private groups as well as by governments. In their wake, constitutionalism and the rule of law have vanished from a significant part of the globe. A glance at these areas should convince the most obtuse that the reasoned way, the traditional way, adhering to our ancient basic values is the only fruitful way for this nation. But the evil viruses of violence, intolerance, regimentation and the suppression of individual rights have infected our society. Segments of our population turn to strange and alien deities and cults seeking salvation instanter. Marx, Lenin, Mao and even Che Guevara are idolized. I know of no adoration of Stalinism or Hitlerism as yet, but that too may come. Strange philosophical brews are concocted by even stranger medicine men marching under banners of intellectualism, urging eager disciples to sip their brew as the instant cure for all problems, even though the brew is poison.

It is sad to note that unreasoned solutions are generally the product of the educated portion of our society. Advocates of these solutions have not only deserted our values, but in some way blame the values for all our ills. This blames the victim of the crime for being the victim, or places blame on the righteous for malfeasance. As one author has pointed out, "when intellectuals discard liberalism they do not resort to scepticism. They do not believe in nothing. On the contrary, they believe in anything. And the intellectual witch doctor threatens to inherit the land..." Liberalism dies impaled upon the blades of intolerance, unreason, violence, and irrationality.

This nation has long been dedicated to the liberal ethic, yet today, its enemies are gathering momentum and you, as the coming leaders of society, will have to decide on the route our country shall take. In the year 44 B.C., Marcus Tullius Cicero, one of the great lawyers of all times, was witness to the dying throes of a republic—that of Rome. He expressed thoughts which I wish to leave with you. Cicero first quoted the following words of a Roman poet, "The Commonwealth of Rome is founded firm on ancient customs and on men of might." Cicero then goes on to say, "Our poet seems to have obtained these words, so brief and true, from an oracle. For neither men alone, unless a nation is supplied with customs too, nor customs alone, unless there have also been men to defend them, could ever have been sufficient to found or to preserve so long a commonwealth whose dominion extends so far and wide. Thus, before our own time, the customs of our ancestors produced excellent men and eminent men preserved our ancient customs and the institutions of their forefathers. But, the republic, when it came to us, was like a beautiful painting, whose colours however, were already fading with age. Our own time not only has neglected to freshen it by renewing the original colors, but has not even taken the trouble to preserve its configuration and so to speak, its general outlines. What is now left of the ancient customs on which the poet said the Commonwealth of Rome was founded firm? They are being so completely buried in oblivion that they are not only no longer practiced but are already becoming unknown. And what shall I say of the men? The loss of our customs is due to the lack of stronghearted men who are willing to defend the commonwealth from the evil within. It is through our own faults, not by any accident that we retain only the form of the commonwealth, and are rapidly losing its substance.”

Thank you.

AND NOW THE HOODING CEREMONY WILL BEGIN.

Professors Taubenfeld and Streng will hood the candidates for the Juris Doctor Degree. Miss Karen Pettigrew, outgoing President of the Student Bar Association and a Member of the class of 1974 will present the Juris Doctor Candidates. We have here today alumni whose sons or brothers or sisters are graduating. They are with the stage party and will participate in the ceremony. They are: Mr. Bowen Louis Florsheim, Class of 1969, Miss Minnie F. Solomonson, Class of 1942, and Mr. Victor H. Stanford, Class of 1951.

Miss Pettigrew will call on the particular alumnus to join his or her Juris Doctor candidate when introduced. Will the candidates please come forward. (The candidates for the Juris Doctor Degree were then hooded).

We have here at the Law School each year lawyers, judges, and prosecutors from the Far East, the Middle East, South America, and Europe who are engaged in a program of study leading to the Master of Comparative Law Degree.

Professor Howard J. Taubenfeld will present these candidates and also the Master of Laws Candidates.
(The candidates for the Master of Comparative Law Degree were then presented).

We have here at the Law School each year a number of students in full time study and a number of practicing lawyers in part time study for the Master of Laws degree.

Professor Howard J. Taubenfeld will present these candidates. (The candidates for the Master of Laws Degree were then presented).

This ceremony is now concluded. Will you please remain seated until the stage party and the degree candidates have recessed to Lawyers Inn.

You are all most welcome to the reception which immediately follows in Lawyers Inn. All the buildings in this quadrangle will remain open for several hours. Please make yourselves at home.

Thank you all for being with us. And don't forget the Baccalaureate service in the morning at 10:30 a.m. in McFarlin Memorial Auditorium, and the Commencement exercises at 1:30 p.m. and the handing out of the diplomas here at Underwood Library at 3:30-4:30 p.m.

Good fortune, the good Lord bless you all. Godspeed.
