INTRODUCTION

To the President, Members of the Board of Trustees, Members of the Board of Visitors, Faculty, Students, Graduates, and Friends of the School of Law of Southern Methodist University.

This Report reviews the 1984-85 academic year of the School of Law of Southern Methodist University, the 60th in its history and my fifth as its Dean. As the School enters its seventh decade, I am pleased to report that its situation is sound and that it continues to grow in strength and quality as we advance toward our goal of making SMU Law School one of this country’s preeminent institutions of legal education and research. The members of the faculty are central to that mission. As the following pages will show, they are a dedicated and creative group of men and women whose accomplishments bring national distinction to the School.

The support of our graduates and friends is also crucial to our goal. Thanks to their help during the year, the Law School made considerable progress in its capital campaign, the Decade Ahead.

The following are a few of the highlights of 1984-85:

- A gift of $1 million to establish the J. Cleo Thompson Memorial Endowment;
- The successful launching of the Appellate Clinic and a Program of Legal Services for the Elderly.
- The establishment of the Raymond P. Williams, Jr. and Family Book Endowment to benefit the Underwood Library;
- The celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Journal of Air Law and Commerce with a special issue written entirely by the faculty;
- The strengthening of the Legal Research and Writing Program;
- The inauguration of a part-time program for well qualified J.D. applicants;
- The receipt by the School of total annual and endowment gifts and pledges in excess of 4.2 million dollars.

The following pages will describe in detail the activities of the 1984-85 academic year.
Jeswald W. Salacuse, Dean of the School of Law of Southern Methodist University.
FACULTY

The Law School's principal asset is its faculty, a highly dynamic group of teachers and scholars. During the academic year 1984-85, full-time faculty members at the School numbered thirty-one. In addition, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs C. Paul Rogers, III, Associate Dean for Clinical Education Roark M. Reed, and I each taught equivalent of one-half the teaching load of a full-time professor. The School had a faculty/student ratio of 1/26, approximately the same as last year, but an improvement over the ratio of 1/31.5 that prevailed in 1980-81. We continue to strive toward the goal set by our Five Year Plan of reducing the faculty/student ratio to 1/24 by 1986.

New appointments to the faculty included Assistant Professor Thomas W. Mayo (A.B. Amherst College, J.D. Syracuse University) and Assistant Professor Charles T. Terry (B.A. Stanford University; J.D. Southwestern University School of Law; LL.M. (in Taxation) New York University School of Law). Professor Mayo, who teaches in the area of procedure, was formerly with the Washington, D.C. law firm of Covington & Burling, and Professor Terry, who teaches taxation, came to us from New York University, where he was Acting Assistant Professor in the Graduate Tax Program.

We were also pleased to have the services of Visiting Professor Roberto G. MacLean (University of Cambridge; LL.B.; Doctor of Laws, Universidad Nacional Mayor de San Marcos de Lima). A former justice of the Supreme Court of Peru and now a high official of his country's Central Reserve Bank, Dr. McLean taught courses in comparative and international law during the 1984 Fall Semester. Visiting Assistant Professor Werner F. Ebke (B.A. Gymnasium Carolinum at Osnabrueck; J.D.; Doctor der Rechte (Ph.D.), University of Muenster School of Law; LL.M., University of California at Berkeley) on leave from the University of Muenster, West Germany, continued for a second year as a Visiting Assistant Professor.

Several of our faculty were on leave during the academic year. Professor Lackland H. Bloom, Jr. was granted a sabbatical leave during the Fall Semester 1984 to conduct research in the area of defamation and the First Amendment. Professor William J. Bridge was a Visiting Professor at Georgetown University Law Center during the Fall and was on research leave in the Spring. Professor Henry J. Lischer, Jr. served as Professor-in-Residence in the office of the Chief Counsel of the Internal Revenue Service in Washington, D.C. Professor Frederick C. Moss was on sabbatical research leave during the Fall Semester, and Professors Robert Brousseau and Vincent S. Walkowiak took leaves of absence during the academic year to engage in the practice of law.

Teaching, research and public service by the faculty during 1984-85 continued to attain high levels of productivity. Collectively, the faculty authored 13 books and 59 articles, in addition to numerous teaching materials for classroom use at the School. Faculty members presented 12 papers at conferences, spoke at numerous continuing education programs, testified before state and local legislative bodies, and participated in pro bono litigation. Appendix A of this Report contains a summary of faculty activities.

Professor Roy Ryden Anderson won the Dr. Don M. Smart Teaching Award for 1984-85, a cash prize of $3,500 to the best classroom teacher, based on the opinion of students and recent graduates. The 1984-85 Dr. Don M. Smart Prize for Directed Research, a prize of $3,000, was shared equally by Professor Daniel Q. Posin and third-year student Mark H. Beall for his paper "What You See Is Not What You Get: Service Attacks Against Liquidation/Reincorporation."

The Faculty Forum Program, initiated in 1981 and administered during 1984-85 by Professor Earl C. Borgeson, Director of Underwood Law Library, held five sessions during the year. The program allows faculty to discuss their work in progress and also to meet with scholars from other institutions.

Presentations included:
Professor Joseph W. McKnight—"Southern Family Law";
Visiting Professor Roberto G. MacLean—"The Problem of Marginality in Peruvian Society";
Professor Jacqueline Weaver, University of Houston—"The Unitization of Oil and Gas Fields in Texas: Legislative, Administrative and Judicial Policies";
Professors Howard J. Taubenfeld and Fred Carney—"The Joy of Learning: Multidisciplinary Seminars";
Professor Andrew J. Chalk, Edwin L. Cox School of Business—"Informative Accidents, Liability Rules and the Efficiency of Product Liability Law";
In addition to the full-time faculty, the educational program of the School owes much to the experienced practitioners who taught courses and seminars on a part-time basis during 1984-85. A group of lawyers with high academic and professional achievements, they forge an indispensable link between theory and practice at the SMU Law School. Their names and the courses they taught are listed in Appendix B of this Report.

At the close of the academic year, Sir Joseph Gold, former General Counsel of the International Monetary Fund and a person who participated in many Law School programs during the past few years, received an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Southern Methodist University.

The School of Law enrolled a total of 822 students during 1984-85. They were distributed among the various years and programs as follows:

Women students numbered 322 and accounted for 39 percent of the student body. Minorities (Blacks, Mexican-Americans, and native Americans) numbered 66, and foreign students 33. One of the goals of the School is to diversify the student body, and we continued to make progress toward this end in 1984-85. Increased recruitment activity and augmented financial aid have been principal causes of these results. Of particular importance is the Sarah T. Hughes Minority Fellowship Program, created by the Dallas Bar Association with funding from the Dallas Bar Foundation.

The J.D. class entering in the fall of 1984 had a mean uniform grade-point average of 3.20 (on a scale of 4), and a mean Law School Admissions Test Score of 37. These first-year students came to the School from 29 states and Italy and Kenya, and they completed their undergraduate studies at 103 different colleges and universities—22 in Texas and 81 in other states.

The Master of Laws (LL.M.) program enrolled a total of 15 full-time and 55 part-time students, most of whom specialized in taxation. The LL.M. (International and Comparative Law) program included 29 foreign lawyers from 16 countries.

In 1984-85, the School received 1,529 applications for admission to the J.D. program for August 1985. The following chart summarizes the application process during the year as compared with the six previous years. The number of applications for the 1985 entering class was approximately 5.0% less than the number received for entry in August of 1984. As the "baby boom" generation has aged and as the birth rate in the United States has fallen, applications to law schools have begun to decline throughout the country and are expected to continue to do so for the foreseeable future. While SMU has experienced a slight decline in applications over the last two years, we are pleased that the quality of the entering classes as measured by LSAT scores has remained constant.

In order to respond to a perceived need in the community, the Law School, after careful study, decided to establish a part-time program of legal study in the Juris Doctor program for well qualified applicants unable to attend law school on a full-time basis. Admission to the part-time program is more selective than the full-time program. Inagurated with the August 1985 entering class, the part-time program enrolled ten students.

The School's level of tuition, which was $8,460 in 1984-85, remains a matter of concern in recruiting a high quality, diverse student body. While tuition increases in recent years have been accompanied by programmatic improvements, a high tuition may preclude many talented persons from attending SMU unless they receive financial assistance. Thanks to the generosity of the School's alumni and friends, our financial aid program has grown substantially. In 1984-85, total scholarship assistance to our students from Law School sources amounted to approximately $900,000.

Principal programs of the School of Law are the three-year Juris Doctor (J.D.) program, requiring 90 hours of course work, the Master of Laws (LL.M.) program, requiring 24 hours of course work, and the LL.M. (Comparative and International Law) program for foreign lawyers, requiring 24 hours of credit. In addition to those programs and to the research degree of Doctor of the Science of Law (S.J.D.), the School of Law offers a joint-degree program, the J.D./MBA degree, in cooperation with the Edwin L. Cox School of Business.

In the 1984-85 academic year, the School conferred 249 J.D. degrees, 47 LL.M. degrees, 3 M.C.L. degrees, and one Diploma in International Studies. The following chart reflects comparative data with respect to degrees conferred during the period 1975-1985.

The curriculum during the regular school year consisted of 183 sections of courses and seminars, and the 1984 summer session included 5 sections. During 1984-85 the School added three new courses: Advanced Problems in the Tax of Sales and Exchange of Property, taught by Abraham N.M. Shashy, Jr., Esq.; Securities Litigation and Enforcement, taught by Michael J. Stewart, Esq., and First Amendment and Mass Media, taught by Professor Ellen K. Solender.

Other curriculum changes are worthy of note. First, the faculty decided to abandon the course on Legislative and Administrative Process, a required course introduced in 1976, but which raised serious pedagogical problems. At the same time, the faculty decided to increase the number of hours devoted to first year Legal Research and Writing, an area of growing emphasis. To strengthen further our program in this area, the School appointed Ms. Elizabeth G. Thornburg, a 1980 cum laude graduate and member of the Order of the Coif, as Director of Legal Research and Writing.

The clinical program, under the supervision of Associate Dean Roark M. Reed, continued to give students an opportunity to work on real cases while providing a service to actual clients. It consisted of six components: the Civil Cases Clinic, the Criminal Justice Clinic, the Federal Taxpayers Clinic, the Appellate Clinic, the Elder Law Project (legal matters for elderly citizens of Dallas) and the Legal Extern Program. The Civil Cases Clinic, directed by Assistant Professor Maxine T. McConnell-Tobin, handled more than 175 cases with problems ranging from consumer issues to domestic relations. Ms. Brenda Garrett served as Associate Director of the Civil Cases Clinic. Students represented clients in District, County and Justice Courts and before administrative agencies. Clinical students also handled over 175 legal matters.

During 1984-85, the students in the Criminal Justice Clinic handled a total of 689 cases, including 22 jury trials. This Clinic, which is devoted to misdemeanors, continues to be an integral part of the Dallas County criminal justice system.

The Federal Taxpayers Clinic, directed by Bruce B. Hart, enabled students to have firsthand experience by providing assistance to persons subject to audit by the Internal Revenue Service. During 1984-85, the Tax Clinic examined a total of 119 cases and accepted the representation of 64 clients. It remains a model, recognized by the I.R.S. and the U.S. Tax Court, for similar clinics in the country.

Through the Legal Extern Program, a total of 45 students gained experience in government and business offices off campus.

In 1984-85, the School launched two new clinical programs: an Appellate Clinic to handle both Civil and Criminal Appeals, and a Clinic for Legal Services to the Elderly, operated in conjunction with the Civil Clinic. The former is funded by the U.S. Department of Education and the latter by the Legal Services Corporation. Students in the Appellate Clinic filed briefs in 13 cases and argued 6 cases before Texas Appellate Courts. Mr. J. Thomas Sullivan, 1976 SMU graduate, was Director of the Appellate Clinic, and Ms. Amy Isaminger, a 1977 alumna, directed the program for Legal Services to the Elderly.

Training in professional skills was strengthened with the completion of construction of a new courtroom in Florence Hall, thanks to a generous grant from the Fair Foundation. This new facility, which supplements the existing courtroom, is designed to be multi-purpose and is used for training in arbitration and negotiation, as well as in the traditional forms of litigation. It contains a complete audio visual system for taping and reviewing student performances.

The School received several distinguished visitors during the year. They included Dr. James O. Freedman, President of the University of Iowa and former Dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, who delivered the annual Roy R. Ray Lecture on the subject of "Liberal Education and the Legal Profession”. The Honorable Willis D. Gradison of Ohio, Senior Republican member of the House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee, presented the second annual tax lecture sponsored by the Dallas office of Touche, Ross & Co. Ms. Harriet E. Miers of the Class of 1970, President of the Dallas Bar Association and the first woman to hold that position in the Association’s history, was the Law Day Speaker. Mr. Vince Nathan, Special Master of Texas Prisons, Perry Deering, Esq., a local sports lawyer, Robert Rose, Esq., Congressman Steve Bartlett, and Robert White, Esq., author of The Lawyer’s Official Handbook, spoke to the law students during the year as part of the Student Bar Association Speakers Program.

The School also conducted its summer Oxford Program for the second year. Professors Peter Winship, Joseph W. McKnight and Fred C. Moss participated in the program.

The School conducted another highly successful and extensive continuing legal education program, both in terms of the number of programs presented and the number of persons in attendance. The Continuing Legal Education Office presented nine programs, virtually all of which closely involved Law School faculty. They included: a Short Course in Antitrust: Law and Litigation (Professor C. Paul Rogers, co-chairperson), held in Colorado Springs, Colorado, June 18-21, 1984; the Third Annual Institute on International Finance (Professor Joseph J. Norton, chairperson) held in Dallas, Texas, November 15-16, 1984; the First Annual Short Course on Law of Banking Institutions (Professor Joseph J. Norton, co-director) held in Dallas, Texas, December 3-7, 1984; the Seventh Annual Estate Planning Institute (Professor Regis W. Campfield, chairperson) held in Dallas, Texas, January 24-25, 1985; the Sixth Annual Symposium on Product Liability (Professor Vincent S. Walkowiak, chairperson) held in Houston, Texas, February 21-22, 1985; Advanced Civil Trial Short Course (Professor William V. Dorsaneo, III, chairperson) held in Dallas, Texas, March 21-22, 1985; the Third Annual Multi-State Labor and Employment Law Seminar (Professor Charles J. Morris, Co-Chairman) held in Dallas, Texas, March 29-30, 1985; the First Annual Institute on Fundamentals of Commercial Lending held in Dallas, Texas, April 29-May 2, 1985; the 1985 Federal Tax Institute (Joseph J. Norton, Co-Director) held in Dallas, Texas, May 23-24, 1985. Altogether, these nine programs attracted 1393 participants representing forty-eight states, Washington, D.C. and five foreign countries. Speakers included leading authorities from throughout the United States and six foreign countries.

In developing programs, Ms. Elaine Flynn and her staff worked in close cooperation with the Faculty Committee on Continuing Legal Education, chaired by Professor Walter W. Steele, Jr.

The Law School continued to publish its two student edited law reviews, which serve as both sources of information to the profession and training grounds in legal scholarship for students. The Southwestern Law Journal, founded in 1947 and advised by Professor Roy R. Anderson, published six issues during the academic year, including its very popular Annual Survey of Texas Law and, for the second time, a special issue devoted exclusively to taxation. It had a circulation of approximately 1400 subscribers.

The Journal of Air Law and Commerce, advised by Associate Dean C. Paul Rogers, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. With a world-wide circulation of approximately 2100, it published four issues including a special anniversary issue consisting of seventeen articles written entirely by the faculty of the Law School. On February 28-March 2, 1985, the Journal of Air Law and Commerce presented its Nineteenth Annual SMU Air Law Symposium which attracted 650 participants from throughout the United States and ten foreign countries, the largest attendance in its history. F. Lee Bailey was the keynote speaker.

The School also hosted the Southern Regional Program of the National Institute of Trial Advocacy for the fifth consecutive year. Directed by Professor Frederick C. Moss, the NITA Southern Regional is an eleven-day program, held on the SMU campus each June to train young lawyers in the skills of litigation. In 1985, 71 lawyers representing nine states attended the course as students, and 42 lawyers and judges from 6 states participated as faculty. Representing SMU on the 1985 faculty were Professors Vincent S. Walkowiak, Walter W. Steele, William V. Dorsaneo, III, Associate Dean Roark M. Reed and Ms. Brenda J. Garrett, Associate Director of SMU’s Civil Cases Clinic.

In addition to the law reviews, numerous other activities afford SMU law students important and valuable professional training.

The Moot Court Program, advised by Professor Roy Ryden Anderson, is designed to train students in the skills of appellate advocacy. The annual intramural competition, sponsored by the Dallas firm of Jackson, Walker, Winstead, Cantwell & Miller, involved nearly the entire first year class and was won by the team of Ms. Carrie Mitchell and Ms. Susan Scott. Ms. Robin Perlman and Mr. David Taylor were runners-up. Mr. Taylor was selected as outstanding advocate. Ms. Catherine Jane Alder received the Russell M. Baker Memorial Award for outstanding contributions to the work of the Moot Court Board. Mr. Kevin Grimes served the year as chairman of the Moot Court Board.

SMU was also active in interschool moot court competition. In the Texas Young Lawyers Association State Moot Court Competition held in conjunction with the 1984 Convention of the State Bar of Texas, the School was represented by a team sponsored by the Dallas Firm of Winstead, McGuire, Sechrest & Minick. Mr. Larry

CAREER SERVICES

Martin, Ms. Sandy Stephenson and Ms. Diane F. Walker composed the team.
The team was awarded best brief in the competition. In the Region X National Moot Court Competition held in Norman, Oklahoma, the School was represented by a team sponsored by the Dallas firm of Hughes & Luce. Mr. Gregory K. Ackels, Ms. Sandy Stephenson and Ms. Diane F. Walker composed the team. The School of Law also participated in the National Appellate Advocacy Competition. Two teams, composed of Messrs. Kevin Grimes, David Pyke, and Ms. Diane F. Walker, and Messrs. Gregory K. Ackels, Michael Bass, and Ms. Sandy Stephenson, represented the School of Law. The teams were sponsored by the Dallas firm of Passman, Jones, Andrews & Holley. The team of Ackels, Bass and Stephenson won the competition and qualified to represent the School of Law at the national finals in Washington,

The School of Law also participated in the Southwest Regional of the 1985 Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition. Eliminated in a close round by the eventual champion, Tulane University, the team was composed of Messrs. Larry L.
Martin, David Pyke, James W. Walker and P. Christian Wik and was sponsored by the Dallas firm of Shank, Irwin and Conant.

The School’s 1984-85 Mock Trial Program consisted of several events. In the Fall, the Trial Advocacy Club, which was advised by Professor Frederick C. Moss and funded by the Geary, Stahl and Spencer law firm, held its seventh annual intramural mock trial competition involving over 100 students from all classes. In the Spring, the School sent student mock trial teams to the ABA competition in Tulsa and to the Association of Trial Lawyers of America Competition, also in Tulsa. The two ABA teams were sponsored by the Dallas firm of Strasburger & Price, and the ATLA team was funded by Dallas trial attorney Frank L. Branson ('69).

Ms. Maureen M. Moore was appointed Director of the Office of Career Services (formerly known as the Placement Office) at the beginning of the academic year.
In the interests of more efficiency and improved services, the office space was remodeled. A computer was purchased to facilitate collection and storage of records maintained on students and recruiters.

The Office benefited from increased support by the Law Alumni Association Student Relations Committee this year. A career information program was presented to students during the fall semester by alumni engaged in various types of law practice around the state. The office’s newsletter describing employment opportunities continued to service approximately 100 alumni in twice-monthly mailings.

Recruiting of S.M.U. Law School graduates remained vigorous. On campus, students engaged in 4,453 interviews with 262 law firms, corporations and government agencies representing thirteen states and the District of Columbia. Another 200 employers invited applications for summer and permanent associate positions via notices filed in the office.

Of respondents to the Class of 1984 Employment and Salary Survey, 66% remained in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, 21% located in other Texas cities, and 13% were employed out of state. Eighty-five percent were employed in law firms, 9% in government, and 6% in non-legal positions.
Forty-five percent of graduates accepting employment with law firms were in firms of 50 or more attorneys.
The stature of the Underwood Law Library as a major legal information center is clearly established. A collection of 315,347 volumes, having grown by 11,099 volumes during this year, is available for use by the students and faculty of the Law School, as well as the members of the legal community.

A portion of the collection growth is the result of gifts of 4,252 volumes, 292 pamphlets, and 1,132 periodical issues from 52 alumni and friends.

Use of the Library continues to be heavy, with 282,594 recorded entries into the building and 25,563 requests for reference and research assistance, by off-campus persons.

The introduction of automation begun in 1983, has tripled Underwood's interlibrary loan activity. The processes involve computer to computer communications which expedite the location and sharing of library resources across the country. In 1984-85 the resources of the Underwood Law Library were used by 123 libraries in 24 states. The exchange of 190 volumes and 14,271 pages of photocopies from additional volumes, is a new milestone of service to the external audience of the Underwood Law Library.

The move towards an automated catalog continues. Approximately 17,600 titles have been converted to a machine-readable format. The progress of this conversion effort of the Libraries of the University makes it reasonable to anticipate the early demise of the card catalog as it is replaced by the capacity to exploit, by computer terminal, the ever-growing information resource that is the Underwood Law Library.

The SMU Law Alumni Association Council continued to provide significant leadership throughout the year under its President, Judge David D. Jackson '65. Its new Committee structure, adopted by the Council in the previous year, has enhanced the opportunities for involvement by graduates in the life of the School. The Committees include:

Admissions, chaired by Glenn Portman '75, to assist the Office of Admissions of the School in the recruitment of prospective students.

Alumni Scholars, chaired by Ernest E. Specks, '55, to encourage support by the members of the Association of the Law Alumni Scholars program and other student assistance programs administered by the Financial Aid Committee of the School.

Long Range Planning, chaired jointly by Carl W. McKenzie '66 and Edward A. Peterson '66 to review and evaluate existing Association programs and plan future directions for the Law Alumni Association; and, to keep the programming of the Alumni Association in line with the needs and long range goals of the School.

Publications, chaired by Jon Bauman '67, to meet two times each year following the delivery of each The Brief magazine to critique the magazine and to serve as a source of alumni input and feedback for content, balance and readability.

Special Events, chaired by Robert G. Vial '50, to plan and conduct the Law Alumni Association sponsored Class Reunion Program and the annual Distinguished Law Alumni Awards and other Law Alumni Association special events which may need to be planned and/or supervised.

Student Relations, chaired by Charles J. McGuire '67, to plan with the Student Bar Association President and the Lord Chief Baron of the Barristers programs for current students who seek firsthand career guidance assistance. Mr. McGuire organized eleven practicing graduates on career opportunities in law and held a noontime session in October 1984 in Karcher Auditorium. Nearly 120 students attended. Panel participants included: Michael M. Wade '67; James D. Burnham '68; David G. McLane '66; Emily A. Parker '74; C. Ted Raines, Jr. '63; John B. Esch '67; James H. Wallenstein '67; and, Herbert S. Kendrick, Jr. '60.

Faculty Relations, chaired by John P. Falconer, Jr., to strengthen relations between faculty and alumni.

Numerous SMU Law School alumni events were held during the year. In July 1984, at the annual convention of the State Bar of Texas, Council President Jackson hosted over 100 graduates of the School and their spouses and guests at a reception in San Antonio. In September, Council President Jackson and his wife, Ginger, hosted a buffet dinner at their home to honor faculty on their return to School. In October 1984, Law Fund Chair David G. McLane '66 traveled to Houston to meet graduates in the city who had gathered at the request of William J. Bux '77 and John J. Eikenburg '64 to work on the local Law Telefund. Also, in October, the Law Alumni Council hosted a reception in Dallas for major donors, those giving $500 or more to the Law Annual Fund. Mr. McLane also traveled to Oklahoma City in November to act as spokesperson for the School at a reception hosted by Peter G. Pierce III '71.

I visited Chicago in May to attend the first ever SMU Law Alumni reception in that city, hosted by Gary W. Westerberg '64. A few days later in Houston, Jesse B. Heath, Jr. '66 and his wife hosted the annual reception for graduates in that city.

Perhaps the alumni event of the year was the School's class reunion program for the eleven classes which graduated in years ending in "0" and "5." Over 185 graduates, and another 100 spouses and guests, met in Dallas on March 23, 1985. The Special Events Committee of the Law Alumni Association Council, under Chairperson Robert G. Vial '50, personally contacted 1,058 graduates from these eleven classes. A special note of thanks is owed to Class Reunion Chairs William C. (Dub) Miller '30; Robert L. Dillard, Jr. '35; Jack W. Crosland, Jr. '40; Robert D. Maddox '45; James J. Hultgren '50; John C. Biggers '55; Larry L. Bean '60; Robert G. Mebus '65; Dan M. Cain '70; Paul W. Brown '75; and, Peter E. Graves '80.

In March 1985, the School of Law hosted the annual joint meeting of the Board of Visitors of the School of Law, the Law School Committee of the Board of Trustees, Professor Charles T. Terry, a new member of the faculty, discusses a point of tax law with a student.
FINANCIAL SUPPORT

The achievements of the School continue to be directly attributable to the substantial support it receives from graduates and friends. Total annual gifts to the School amounted to $595,811, only slightly below the historical record set the previous year.

David G. McLane ’66 chaired the 1984-85 Law School Fund, which included $276,931 in gifts from alumni, all of whom are listed in the Appendix. Under Mr. McLane’s direction, following the traditional Fund kickoff by Alumni Council President Jackson, the Law Alumni Telefund was conducted for twelve nights in February, rather than the customary October date—a change necessitated by the need to lay additional cable in Lawyers Inn. This delay was a primary cause in the slight decline in annual giving in 1984-85. 112 alumni solicitors telephoned their classmates directly from Lawyers Inn. The 1936 alumni (nearly 32.6 percent of the School’s total) who contributed to the Fund made an average gift of $143. Houston and Fort Worth graduates continued their local telefunds and additional local fund efforts were begun in Austin, under Edward O. Coultas ’74, and in San Antonio, under Phillip J. Pfieffer ’72.

Contributors to the Fund again were given the option of designating their gifts to areas of special interest. They responded with designations to student scholarships ($225,255), faculty support ($72,905), clinical education ($75,270), support of the collection and services of Underwood Law Library ($70,515) and to the opportunity to provide the Dean with the resources to meet other needs ($33,721).

The tenth annual Law Library Fund yielded $67,995, nearly 10 percent increase over the previous year. Leading the campaign in support of the Underwood Library were Richard A. Freling, who chaired the Law Library Fund for Dallas firms and attorneys, Claude K. Chappelear, chairperson for Dallas corporate counsel, and alumnus Allen Howeth ’63, who with Barton S. Smith again directed the campaign in Fort Worth and Tarrant County.

Support from law firms, attorneys, friends, organizations, and foundations significantly strengthened the School’s Moot Court ($24,000) and Trial Advocacy ($13,900) programs, discussed above. Contributions for awards, legal writing and other areas totaled $80,245. The Shell Companies Foundation committed an additional $20,000 to assist in maintaining the School’s Tax Clinic with additional clinic support coming to us from... two Dallas foundations. The School also received, to date in The Decade Ahead capital campaign, $1,567,708 in cash and $2,107,188 in pledges as additions to endowment, including the commitment of $1,000,000 from the family of J. Cleo Thompson; an endowment in excess of $200,000 in support of the library from Raymond A. Williams, Jr. ’49 and family; and a commitment as yet not public of another $1,000,000 from a non-alumnus friend of the School. A comparative summary of gifts to the School follows.

Faculty Activities and Publications in 1984-85
Financial/Support

Ms. Elizabeth Thomburg (l.) is the new Director of Legal Research and Writing.
ROY RYDEN ANDERSON, Professor of Law, (B.A., 1966, Texas Christian University; J.D., 1969, Southern Methodist University; LL.M., 1975, Yale University), taught Contracts I and II, Commercial Transactions and Damages, supervised the School’s Moot Court Program, and served as Faculty Advisor to the Southwestern Law Journal and Phi Delta Phi Legal Fraternity. He prepared a 400-page syllabus and supplementary materials for the course on Commercial Transactions, published an article on the “Action for the Price under the Uniform Commercial Code” in the inaugural issue of Georgia State University Law Review, and an article on the “Seller’s Resale Remedy under the Uniform Commercial Code” in the Journal of Air Law and Commerce. His article on the “Duty to Read” in contract law, originally in the Texas Tech Law Review, was reprinted in the 1985 Yearbook of Construction Articles. He was a member of the Law School Curriculum Committee and the Law School Committee on Professional Responsibility. He also spoke to first year students on “Handling Stress in Preparing For and Taking Law School Examinations.”

LACKLAND H. BLOOM, JR., Associate Professor of Law (B.A., 1970, Southern Methodist University; J.D. 1973, University of Michigan), taught Constitutional Law and Copyright. He was Chairman of the Law School Admissions Committee, and was the Judicial Clerkship Coordinator. On sabbatical during the fall semester 1984, Professor Bloom completed an article “Proof of Fault in Media Defamation Litigation” which will be published in 38 Vanderbilt Law Review, 247-394 (1985). During the year, Professor Bloom attended the AALS and LSAC meetings in Washington, D.C. and a Media Law seminar in Austin.

EARL C. BORGESON, Professor of Law and Director of the Law Library (B.S.L. 1947, LL.B., 1949, University of Minnesota; B.S. in Library Librarianship, 1950, University of Washington), Member of the Law School Chair Search Committee, Faculty Appointments Committee, Legal Writing Committee, Library Committee; a member of the Faculty Senate Committee on Libraries; a member of the Council of Library Directors; a member of the Provost’s Academic Faculty Needs Advisory Committee, and Program Coordinator for the Law School Faculty Forum.

WILLIAM J. BRIDGE, Associate Professor of Law (B.S.F.S., 1970, J.D., 1974, Georgetown University), was on leave as a Visiting Associate Professor at Georgetown University during the Fall Semester. He taught Evidence, Professional Responsibility and American Inn of Court, a trial practice course. During the Spring Semester, he was on sabbatical leave, pursuing his research on the marital evidentiary privileges.

ALAN R. BROMBERG, University Distinguished Professor of Law (A.B. 1949, Harvard, J.D. 1952 Yale) taught Securities Regulation and a Corporate Planning seminar. With Lewis D. Lowenfels, he wrote the 1985 Supplement to Securities Fraud & Commodities Fraud which included new chapters on insider trading, churning and broker liability. A member of the American Law Institute and the editorial boards of several corporate and securities journals, and a nationally recognized authority on corporate and securities law, he was interviewed by and quoted in the Wall Street Journal and Newsweek as well as several local publications. He chaired the Educational Publications Advisory Board of Matthew Bender & Co., which reviews book proposals for that publisher. He continued work for the State Bar Securities Committee on a proposed comprehensive revision of the Texas Securities Act. The proposed Act passed the Texas House 4 to 1 and had a majority in the Senate but not the 3/5 majority needed to bring it to a floor vote. However its most significant provision—a substantial curtailment of the state’s review of the “merit” of securities—has been proposed for adoption as an administrative rule.

REGIS W. CAMPFIELD, Professor of Law (B.B.A., 1963, Notre Dame University; LL.B., 1966, University of Virginia) taught wills, trusts and estate planning. He is a regular participant in continuing legal education programs dealing primarily with the subject of estate planning. A member of the American Law Institute, a fellow of the American College of Probate Counsel, the American College of Tax Counsel, and the International Academy of Estate and Trust Law (member, Executive Council), as well as a member of the Estate and Gift Tax Committee of the American Bar Association Section of Taxation, the Accessions Tax Committee of the American College of Probate Council, he is past chairman of the Committee on Tax Legislation and Regulations Joint Property (Section of Real Property Probate and Trust Law of the American Bar Association) and outgoing Editor-in-Chief of Probate Notes, the quarterly publication of the American College of Probate Counsel and incoming Editor of Probate Lawyer, the annual publication of the American College of Probate Counsel. He is also permanent chairman and editor of the Notre Dame Estate Planning Institute and a member of the Editorial Board of the Commerce Clearing House series, The Study of Federal Tax Law. He was honored by the SMU Lecture Series for his book Estate Planning and Drafting.

NEIL H. COGAN, Associate Professor of Law (Dipl., 1964, Gratz College (Hebrew Studies); B.A., 1966, LL.B., 1969, University of Pennsylvania), taught Constitutional Law, Federal Courts, Group Actions, and Jurisprudence I & II. He drafted four civil rights bills submitted to the Texas legislature and testified in their behalf; two of the bills became law. He drafted an amendment to the Dallas City Code, which became law. He represented plaintiffs in several civil rights actions, including the demonstrators who obtained a campsite near the Republican National Convention and the women’s clinics who obtained a restraining order against anti-choice picketers. He represented the second-place finisher in the Mayor’s race and obtained a recount. He wrote an article on constitutional conventions in the Journal of Air Law and Commerce, published book and film reviews in the Dallas Morning News and Dial magazine, and began writing “A History of the Law of Standing”, funded in part by the Samuel E. Ziegler Fund.

WILLIAM V. DORSANE0, III, Professor of Law (B.A., 1967 University of Pennsylvania; J.D., 1970, University of Texas), taught Texas Pretrial Procedure, Texas Trial and Appellate Procedure, and Torts. He lectured on various aspects of trial and appellate practice in professional programs of the State Bar of Texas, the University of Houston, St. Mary’s University School of Law, and South Texas College of Law. In addition, he was a member of the Committee on the Administration of Justice and the Texas Supreme Court Advisory Committee. He also served as a reporter for the Advisory Committee on Appellate Rules to the Texas Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals.

WILLIAM J. FLITTIE, Professor of Law (B.Sc.L., 1946, University of Minnesota; LL.B., 1947, Columbia University). An expert in the fields of oil and gas and antitrust law, he completed the 1985 supplement to W. Summers, The Law of Oil and Gas (Perm. Ed.), which he has maintained, and in part rewritten, over a period of 24 years. He also was engaged in extensive research concerned with possible use of Sherman Antitrust injunctive processes to curb labor racketeering.

JEFFREY M. GABA, Assistant Professor of Law (B.A., 1972, University of California, Santa Barbara; J.D., 1976, Columbia University), taught courses in Property, Environmental Law, Water Law and Land Use. His article on the Role of Settlement Agreements was recently published in the Georgetown Law Journal. He is currently completing a work on the rights of private parties to recover hazardous waste clean-up costs. Professor Gaba was appointed a member of the Dallas Environmental Health Commission, and he serves as Chairperson of the Environmental Law Section of the Dallas Bar Association.

JOHN E. KENNEDY, Professor of Law (Ph.B., 1956, LL.B., 1959, Notre Dame University; LL.M., 1964, J.S.D., 1970, Yale University), taught Federal Courts, Equitable Remedies, Texas Pre-Trial Procedure, and Procedure I and II. An authority in the field of procedure, Professor Kennedy served as Reporter to the United States Judicial Conference Implementation Committee on Admission of Attorneys to Federal Practice and also continued research for a book on class actions.

HENRY J. LISCHER, JR., Professor of Law (B.B.A., 1967, J.D., 1970, University of Iowa; LL.M., [in Taxation], 1974, New York University), was on leave of absence during the 1984-85 academic year. During this period, he served as Professor-in-Residence on the staff of the Chief Counsel of the Internal Revenue Service in the IRS National Office in Washington, D.C. He and a co-author completed the manuscript of a three-volume form book on the subject of estate planning for West Publishing Company, and in collaboration with a co-author he published an article entitled “The New S Corporation Distribution System: A Descriptive Analysis” in the S Corporation’s service published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. Professor Lischer spoke on the subject of Recent Developments in Income, Estate, and Gift Taxation to the Internal Revenue Service Southwest Regional Counsel Continuing Legal Education Seminar and on the same subject to the Tax Section of the Alabama State Bar Association. In addition, he served as the Reporter of the American Bar Association Joint Committee on Tax Litigation Clinics, and he is a member of the American Bar Association Section of Taxation Committee on Low Income Taxpayer Problems. Professor Lischer was a faculty member and SMU administrative director of the Academy of International Taxation which is co-sponsored by the School of Law and the Ministry of Finance of the Republic of China, Taiwan to provide instruction to career tax officials from the Republic of China and other Asian nations.

THOMAS WM. MAYO, Assistant Professor of Law (B.A., Amherst, 1971; J.D., Syracuse, 1977), taught Land Use and Civil Procedure. His publications and research include his eighth annual “Survey of Developments in New York Land Use Law” for the Syracuse Law Review and “The Local Government Antitrust Act: A Comment on the Constitutional Questions,” in the Journal of Air Law and Commerce. He wrote to 150 local attorneys on federal jurisdiction for the Dallas chapter of the Federal Bar Association’s Federal Practice Seminar. He was also active with the American Bar Association Litigation Section’s Committee on Federal Rules and organized and participated in a round-table discussion at the School of Law on litigation and ethics-related aspects of the tragedy in Bhopal, India.

MAXINE T. McCONNELL-TOBIN, Assistant Professor of Law and Director of the Civil Clinic (B.A., 1940; LL.B., 1958, Southern Methodist University), taught the Civil Clinic classes, revised the Civil Clinic Practice Manual, and prepared materials and problems on trial preparation for use in Civil Clinic. She served as Vice-Chairman of the State Bar of Texas Committee on Legal Services to the Poor in Civil Matters.

CHARLES J. MORRIS, Professor of Law (A.B., 1944, Temple University; J.D. (LL.B.), 1948, Columbia University), during the fall semester taught Labor Law I, Constitutional Law I, and Perspectives on American Law. During the spring semester he taught Labor Law II and the new course on Alternative Dispute Resolution. A nationally known authority on labor law and labor arbitration, he lectured and participated in many labor and management programs and meetings during the past year and was Chairman of the Multistate Labor and Employment Law Symposium. He is currently writing and editing a book on labor policy and the National Labor Relations Act.

FREDERICK C. MOSS, Associate Professor of Law (A.B., 1965, Georgetown University; J.D., 1968, Villanova University; LL.M., 1977, Harvard University), was on sabbatical leave in the Fall, during which time he taught at the Texas College of Trial Advocacy, wrote a first draft of an article on the ethics of law firm marketing practices, co-taught a University Informal Course on Criminal Procedure, was a guest speaker at an ethics colloquium at the Perkins Theology School, and spoke at a seminar on "Business Development for Lawyers" in Dallas and Houston. In the Spring he taught Professional Responsibility and Trial Advocacy and prepared two SMU mock trial teams for a national competition. In June, he directed the Southern Regional Program of the National Institute for Trial Advocacy, held at SMU.

CARLA A. NEELEY, Assistant Professor of Law (B.A., 1974, Duke University; J.D., 1976, University of Florida), taught Wills and Administration of Estates, Trusts and Federal Income Tax Problems of Exempt Organizations. During the year, she revised the teaching materials used in the Exempt Organizations course. She published two articles in the field of tax-exempt organizations and continued work on articles concerning unrelated business activities of charities. She was recently appointed as a member of the American Bar Association Probate and Trust Division Committee on Charitable Institutions: Tax and Other Problems.

JOSEPH JUDE NORTON, Professor of Law (A.B., 1966, Providence College; LL.B. (hons.), 1969, University of Edinburgh; LL.M., 1970, University of Texas; S.J.D., 1973, University of Michigan; Diploma, Hague Academy of International Law, 1975), taught Torts I and II, domestic and international banking law courses, and Survey of American Business Law. He supplemented his Banking Law Manual (co-author), adding a new chapter on regulation of international banking; edited and contributed to a treatise on World Trade and Trade Finance; and published two law journal articles (one on export trading companies in the field of tax-exempt organizations and mergers involving the close corporation). He was director of, a contributor to and speaker at, the University's Second Annual Institute on International Finance, and at the Law School's Annual Short Course on Law of Banking Institutions and Annual Institute on Commercial Lending. He served as Chairman of the Committee on Graduate Legal Studies, and as a member of the Executive Committee, Chair Search Committee and Provost's Ad Hoc International Programs Committee.

DANIEL Q. POSIN, Associate Professor of Law (A.B., 1963, University of California at Berkeley; M.A., J.D., 1967, Yale; LL.M., 1975, New York University), taught Federal Income Taxation, Corporate Reorganizations, Partnership Taxation, and Corporate Planning during the academic year. Professor Posin published the 1985 supplement to the student and professional editions of his treatise Federal Income Taxation of Individuals. His article entitled "Taxing Corporate Acquisitions: Purging Penelope's Web," was accepted for publication in the University of Pennsylvania Law Review. Professor Posin also published “Toward a Theory of Federal Taxation: A Comment,” in the Fiftieth Anniversary Issue of the Journal of Air Law and Commerce. He continued work on his treatise on Corporate Reorganizations for Matthew Bender publishers. He was a moderator at the SMU Federal Tax Institute and coordinated the second annual Touche Ross Lecture in Taxation.

ROARK M. REED, Professor of Law (B.S., B.A., 1965, J.D., 1969, Georgetown University), designed and acquired funding for an Appellate Clinic and for a project for legal services to the elderly, which operates in conjunction with the Civil Cases Clinic. He has published “Group Learning in Law School,” 34 Journal of Legal Education 674 (1984) and directed the Dallas Bar Association Trial Skills course for practicing lawyers.

C. PAUL ROGERS III, Professor of Law and Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (B.A., 1970, J.D., 1973, University of Texas; LL.M., 1977, Columbia University), taught Commercial Transactions and Antitrust Law. A specialist in antitrust law, his co-authored casebook, Antitrust Law: Policy and Practice, was published in September 1985 by Matthew Bender & Co. Dean Rogers is also co-authoring a one volume treatise on Business Torts. His article on foreign antitrust jurisdiction appeared in the Journal of Air Law and Commerce. He also served as faculty advisor to the Journal of Air Law and Commerce and chaired the Diverse Student Recruitment Committee at the Law School.

JESWALD W. SALACUSE, Dean and Professor of Law (A.B. 1960, Hamilton College; J.D. 1963, Harvard University), taught Business Associations and Legal Problems of International Business. Dean Salacuse completed the sixth and final volume of the treatise International Business Planning: Law and Taxation, of which he is the co-author. His article “Toward a New Treaty Framework for Direct Foreign Investment” appeared in 50 J. of Air L. & Commerce 969-1010 (1985). At the second annual SMU Institute on International Finance, in November 1985, Dean Salacuse delivered a paper “Developments in Countertrade: Barter Isn’t What It Used to Be,” later published in World Trade and Finance (1985). In April, Dean Salacuse traveled to Zaire to undertake a study of that country’s national land law system, at the request of USAID and the University of Wisconsin Land Tenure Center. He was elected to the Board of Directors of Capital Bank in June and was appointed by U.S. Secretary of Commerce to the North Texas District Export Council. He was also elected a Fellow of the Texas Bar Foundation. He continued to serve as a board member of the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, the Dallas Bar Foundation, and Dispute Mediation Service, Inc.

WALTER W. STEELE, JR., Professor of Law (L.L.B., 1957, Southern Methodist University; L.M., 1969, University of Texas). Professor Steele taught Criminal Law, Professional Responsibility, Texas Criminal Procedure, and served for one semester as Director of the S.M.U. Criminal Justice Clinic during the year. For the second year, he was Chairman of the Continuing Legal Education Committee and this year was elected to serve as a member of the Law School Executive Committee. Professor Steele also served as an Academic Advisor to the Model Rules of Professional Responsibility Committee of the State Bar of Texas and was a member of the Liaison with Law Schools and Law Students Committee of the State Bar of Texas.

HOWARD J. TAUBENFELD, Professor of Law (A.B., 1947, L.L.B., 1948, and Ph.D., 1958, Columbia University), taught Property I, International Law, and Law and Ethics in the Spring of 1985. During the Summer of 1984, he was on sabbatical leave in Rome for the International Development Law Institute: Development Lawyers Course. In the fall, he was Exchange Professor at Kwansei Gakuin University in Japan. An expert in international law, he was a special consultant to the Government of Tunisia on legislation governing pollution control and worker safety and health. His publications include the preparation of Vol. 4, Selective National Laws Concerning Women in Sex Based Discrimination: International Law and Organization (1978-1985).

CHARLES T. TERRY, Assistant Professor of Law (B.A., 1967, Stanford University; J.D., 1981, Southwestern University School of Law; LL.M. (in Taxation) 1982, New York University School of Law), taught in the area of taxation. He undertook research for a new course in Tax Practice, Research and Writing for the full-time Tax LL.M. Program and for a new foreign tax course for the fall semester 1986.
HARVEY WINGO, Professor of Law (B.A., 1958, Birmingham-Southern College; M.A., 1960, J.D., 1962, Vanderbilt University), taught Constitutional Law, Criminal Law and Constitutional Criminal Procedure. His research activities were devoted primarily to the continuation of his study comparing the federal systems of Canada and the United States which he began during his sabbatical leave in the Spring 1984.

PETER WINSHIP, Associate Professor of Law (B.A., 1965, LL.B., 1968, Harvard University; LL.M., 1973, University of London [London School of Economics]), taught commercial law and bankruptcy courses. He completed a commercial law casebook, published by Little, Brown, and continued research in the field of international trade law.
