CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

ALSIE HENRY CARLETON, Doctor of Divinity

Minister, district superintendent, seminary educator and bishop, he is distinguished as a man of consistently constructive work and unfailingly edifying relationship. As presiding bishop of the New Mexico-Northwest Texas episcopal area of the United Methodist Church, chairman of the Jurisdictional Committee on Ministry, trustee of Methodist colleges and service institutions, and member of the general councils of the Church on national and world levels, he serves with insight, considerateness, endurance and cheerfulness. In recognition of his contribution to the substance and spirit of each area of his work, we are proud to honor our alumnus and former faculty member with the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa.

Presented by Professor Joseph Dillard Quillian, Jr.

CAREY CRONEIS, Doctor of Humane Letters

Educational Statesman and Scientist, he rose to eminence as a distinguished paleontologist at the University of Chicago. His inquiring mind and catholicity of interests marked him for a wider educational role, and he moved to the presidency of Beloit College where he brought an administration dedicated to the principle of the importance of the liberating experience of the humanities and sciences. As provost and later chancellor of Rice University, he led that institution from the role of a technological institute to the stature of a full university committed to the proposition that the educated man is the man whose mind has been liberated by an encounter with his literary, cultural and scientific heritage. Throughout his distinguished career he has stood for the best in science, in education and in those human qualities marked by graciousness and integrity. For all of these things, but particularly for his role in enriching the intellectual life in the southwestern United States, this University is proud to confer upon Carey Croneis the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Presented by Professor James Elwood Brooks

CARL HERTZOG, Doctor of Literature

He is the first graphic artist to combine the visual richness of Southwestern heritage with its verbal expression. His printing has been that of a master nurtured and enlightened by his imaginative grasp of the artistic possibilities of the graphic arts. As a result, his books and broadsides have brought to the "Printer of the Pass" an international reputation. Books from his hands draw word and format into such harmonious relationship that text is given extension far beyond that of ordinary print; and yet each of his works has been subjected to the most painstaking disciplines of proportion and arrangement. For his uncompromising artistic standards and craftsmanship exercised in the production of over 200 books in a period of nearly fifty years, we are pleased to present him this day for the degree of Doctor of Literature, honoris causa.

Presented by Professor Decberd Henry Turner
