CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

WILLIAM LITTELL EVERITT, Doctor of Engineering

Distinguished engineer, international authority on communications and electronics, Dean Emeritus of the University of Illinois College of Engineering, his teaching and particularly his textbook Communications Engineering have profoundly influenced several generations of electrical engineers and the technical achievements of this century. His concern for the growth and development of both student and professor as central to the life of a university has earned him the continual affection and respect of students and of faculties. Concern for the humane solution has been characteristic of his judgments: whether in an early handbook he wrote for undergraduates or in the government by consensus which guided his school of engineering; whether in service on a YMCA board or in expansion of the humanities content of engineering curricula. In recognition of his farsighted leadership as an engineer in the best sense: one who builds, but who builds by encouraging the best in men, Southern Methodist University is pleased to confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Engineering, honoris causa.

Presented by Professor Lorn Lambier Howard

MANUEL VIGUERAS FLORES, Doctor of Divinity

Methodist minister, college chaplain, teacher, board executive, author, hymnologist, literary illustrator, editor, delegate to ecumenical conferences on Christian Education in Brazil, Canada, Ireland, Japan, Peru, and Switzerland; he has served with distinction in the educational ministry of the Church, exemplifying the sensitivity, insight, and creativity essential to constructive formation of persons. In appreciation for the work that he has done and for the person that he is, we are proud to make him an honorary son of this University with the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa.

Presented by Professor Joseph Dillard Quillian, Jr.

FRANCES SANGER MOSSIKER, Doctor of Letters

Gracious lady, prize-winning author, native of Dallas but citizen of the world, she has in four published books vividly presented the human side of history around the French court in the seventeenth through the nineteenth centuries. Her books, internationally translated and acclaimed, have been notable for their graceful prose style, their thorough scholarship, their sharp insights into human character and behavior, their colorful narration, and their ability to illuminate a whole social order. Not content to rest on her achievement, she is under contract for a program of future writing that will keep her engaged for years to come. In recognition of her contributions to readable history and her lucent example of how an educated mind can render life meaningful for others and for itself, SMU is proud this day to confer upon her the degree of Doctor of Letters, honoris causa.

Presented by Professor Laurence Perrine
