CURRENT LITERATURE ON AVIATION *

BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS—A SELECTED LIST

British Transport Commission. TRANSPORT STATISTICS JAN.-MAY 1948, No. 1-5. London, 1948.

California Aeronautics Commission. CALIFORNIA LAWS RELATING TO AERONAUTICS, 1948. Sacramento, Calif., 1948. 11 p.

DeChant, John A. Devilbirds, THE STORY OF UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS AVIATION IN WORLD WAR II. New York, Harper & Brothers, 1947. 263 p. $4.00.

A well-documented unofficial history of Marine Aviation, reportorial in style, telling of the great contribution to winning World War II, made by this versatile little 150,000 man branch of the U.S. Armed Forces. The story begins with the early history of Marine Aviation when Captain Cunningham on May 22, 1912, reported for Navy Flight training, and goes on through Marine participation in World War I and II.

International Civil Aviation Organization. AIR MAIL STUDY. Montreal, ICAO, 114 p. (Doc. 5348—AT/654).

Lindbergh, Charles A. OF FLIGHT AND LIFE. New York, Charles Scribner's Sons, 1948. 56 p. $1.50.

An essay representing the culmination of almost three decades of thought and experience; a synthesis that was profoundly influenced by the author's vision of life and death, and of science and God, during World War II. Its theme is best expressed in his, "Why I ask Myself, should I spend my life developing aviation if aircraft are to ruin the nations which produce them?"

Lindholm, Richard W. PUBLIC FINANCE OF AIR TRANSPORTATION. Columbus, Ohio, Ohio State University, 1948. 111 p.

Deals with taxation and other financial problems of the air transport industry, evidently meant for the laymen and not the industry.

Mulvihill, Donald F. UNIVERSITY COURSES IN AIR TRANSPORTATION. University, Alabama. University of Alabama, School of Commerce and Business Administration, Bureau of Business Research, 1948 rev. 36 p. $ .50.

A revision for the school year 1947-8 of a study made for the school year 1945-6, among 56 institutions of higher learning having membership in the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, relative to actual course offerings and takings in the following fields: air transport economics, airline management and airport management. It is interesting to note that of the 56 schools contacted, 23 offered courses in 1945-6, and 29 offered courses in 1947-8. Engineering courses are not listed.

This history provides the definitive account of the AAF's role in World War II. The story of the AAF's participation is interpreted in the light of the history of U.S. Military Aviation and in terms of the sudden, rapid, and unforeseen demands of the global strategy of World War II on the civilian and military organization of the United States and the United Nations. Begins with role of aviation in World War I and its development between the two wars. Evaluates the strategy and progress of the air power of the several great powers. The volume ends with the raid by 12 B-17's on the Rouen-Sotteville Railroad yards—17 August 1942, the success of which insured the continuation of the AAF's doctrine of strategic bombing.
