MORE THAN MEETS THE EYE

Many attorneys subscribe to Shepard's Citations just for the citations to cases by their own state and the federal courts.

Here's what they get in addition:

1. Citations to early cases of their state by all state and federal courts
2. Cross references to and from the corresponding unit of the National Reporter System
3. Citations in law review articles
4. Citations in annotations of the American Law Reports
5. Citations to the United States Constitution
6. Citations to the United States Code
7. Citations to the United States Statutes at Large
8. Citations to their own state codes
9. Citations to laws not in the code
10. Table of state acts cited by popular names
11. Citations to Ordinances
12. Index to Ordinances
13. Citations to Court Rules
14. Access on request to citations to authorities of other jurisdictions

There's a lot more to Shepard's Citations than meets the casual eye. And the wealth of research material that it makes available can be placed at your disposal at a nominal cost.
