ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE indulgence of our subscribers is requested for the lateness of this issue. Activities in connection with the Southwestern Regional Convention of the American Bar Association held in April pre-empted a great deal of the time and energy of the Student Editorial Board and of the Law Faculty. The Summer issue, it is promised, will appear during the summer and will follow with reasonable promptness the mailing of this issue.

The Southwestern Legal Center on the Southern Methodist University campus was dedicated in impressive ceremonies on Wednesday, April 18, 1951. The dedication was the major event during Lawyers Week (April 16-21), a week that was crowded with meetings, addresses and other activities. The first Southwestern Regional Convention of the American Bar Association was held at the Center during the early part of the week. For an account of the events and proceedings the reader is referred to the June, 1951, issue of the American Bar Association Journal (Vol. 37, p. 438).

The Southwestern Law Journal is proud to announce that its former Faculty Editor, Professor A. J. Thomas, Jr., has written a book, Economic Regulation of Scheduled Air Transport (Buffalo, N. Y.: Dennis & Co., 1951), which has just come off the press. The book surveys federal legislation up to the year 1938 by way of background, considers the constitutional basis for regulation of civil aviation, examines into economic regulation of domestic air transport under the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, and ends up with a study of economic regulation of international air transport. The book is an authoritative work carefully done, and the Journal extends its congratulations to Professor Thomas.
